"A NEGRO JUDGES THE SOUTH"

(Editor's Note: In view of the recent interest in the Civil Rights issue created by Mr. Wallace's Southern tour, we reprint an editorial from The Cleveland Times, of Shelby, N. C.)

One of the most eloquent and subjective commentaries made on the Civil Rights issue which has come to our attention is an editorial which appeared in the Newark, N. J., Telegram. The Telegram is published by Davis Lee, a Negro of Newark, and has half a million readers in the Southern states.

Last week The Telegram carried the following editorial, written by Publisher Lee himself.

"I have just returned from an extensive tour of the South. In addition to meeting and talking with our agents and distributors who get our newspapers out to more than 500,000 readers in the South, I met both Negroes and whites in the urban and rural centers.

"Because of these personal observations, studies and contacts, I feel that I can speak with some degree of authority. I am certainly in a better position to voice an opinion than the Negro leader who occupies a suite in downtown New York and bases his opinions on the South from the distorted stories he reads in the Negro press and in the Daily Worker.

"The racial lines in the South are so clearly drawn and defined there can be no confusion. When I am in Virginia or South Carolina, I don't wonder if I will be served if I walk into a white restaurant. I know the score. However, I have walked into several right here in New Jersey where we have a civil rights law, and have been refused service.

"The whites in the South stay with their own and the Negroes do likewise. This fact has been the economic salvation of the Negro in the South. Atlanta, Ga., compares favorably with Newark in size and population. Negroes there own and control millions of dollars worth of business. All of the Negro business in New Jersey will not amount to as much as our race has in one city in Georgia. This is also true in South Carolina and Virginia.

"New Jersey today boasts of more civil rights legislation than any other State in the Union, and State government itself practices more discrimination than Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, or Georgia. New Jersey employs one Negro in the motor-vehicle department. All of the States above mentioned employ plenty.

"No matter what a Negro wants to do, he can do it in the South. In Spartanburg, S. C., Ernest Collins, a young Negro, operates a large funeral home, a taxicab business, a filling station, grocery store, has several buses, runs a large farm and a night club.

"Mr. Collins couldn't do all that in New Jersey or New York. The only bus lines operated by Negroes are in the South. The Safe Bus Co., in Winston-Salem, N. C., owns and operates over a hundred. If a Negro in New Jersey or New York had the money and attempted to obtain a franchise to operate a line he would not only be turned down, but he would be lucky if he didn't get a bullet in the back.

"The attitude of the southerners toward our race is a natural psychological reaction and aftermath of the Civil War. Negroes were the properties of these people.

"Certainly you couldn't expect the South to forget this in 75 or even a 150 years. That feeling has passed from one generation to another, but it is not one of hatred for the Negro. The South just doesn't believe that the Negro has grown up. No section of the country has made more progress in finding a workable solution to the Negro problem than the South. Naturally southerners are resentful when the North attempts to ram a civil rights program down their throats.

"The entire race program in America is wrong. Our approach is wrong. We expend all our energies, and spend millions of dollars trying to convince white people that we are as good as they are, that we are an equal. Joe Louis is not looked upon as a Negro but the greatest fighter of all time, loved and admired by whites in South Carolina as much as by those in Michigan. He convinced the world, not by propaganda and agitation, but by demonstration.

"Our fight for recognition, justice, civil rights, and equality, should be carried on within the race. Let us demonstrate to the world by our living standards, our conduct, our ability, and intelligence that we are the equal of any man, and when we shall have done this the entire world, including the South, will accept us on our terms. Our present program of threats and agitation makes enemies out of our friends."

We feel that Publisher Lee's statement requires no comment. It is gratifying, however, to note that more and more rational and sincere Negro leaders are speaking out in this tenor, expressing a true evaluation of the progress which the South has made of its own volition and in its own design toward a resolution of racial problems. The cause of betterment of the contemporary Negro's welfare was first championed by the South, which has written into its statutes no law regarding racial relationships and no legislation which it had no intention of observing, as has been the case in the North. A sincere desire for social progress has motivated the South and has resulted in practice and fact. But, such threats and slurs as have been hurled at us during the past year have a chilling influence on our spirit.

Let the continued improvement of our social affairs and the extension of opportunities for the Negro be retarded or set back by intolerable interference, we earnestly hope that more honest and thinking Negro leaders will speak out louder and louder in accurate judgment of the South's voluntary achievements, as opposed to the political expediency of civil rights verbiage.

Daily Does 'Em

by Daphne Daily, Special Correspondent, VPA News Service

(Editor's Note: The following is a correspondence from Daphne Daily, Special Correspondent of the Virginia Press Assn. News Service, who is making a tour of England, Scotland, France, and other places of interest this summer. The following is from Edinburgh, Scotland.)

Edinburgh—All the way from Virginia comes a marked clipping from the Richmond News Leader stating "American tourists are recognized anywhere. Their feet hurt." It is too true.

On this "side," tourists also are spotted as Americans if they wear galoshes and, in restaurants, if they use the fork in the right hand. Then, store clerks in "Export" or "Overseas Visitors Shops" have no difficulty whatsoever in establishing the nationality. Of course, antique dealers the world over have their own uncanny means of appraising customers.

For the first difference, the native population does not have extra foot gear, or precious little extra clothing of any kind. It is in the shop windows, but the beautiful woollens, tweeds and cashmeres are for export. Whatever the whys and wherefores, one cannot help wishing along with the window shoppers that more were available to them.

Whether these sturdy folk would wear all at one time, as we do, hat, scarf, sweater, suit, light coat, heavier coat and gloves is another matter. They seem impervious to weather. Fuel is scarce, but there apparently is an unwritten understanding that the windows must be open day and night. And, as the tour guide said a "real bit of Scotch mist" falls every day, rain that is. The better known variety is "Export," too.

Difference in use of table silver are in the matter of the continental war of holding fork in left hand, cutting and pushing with knife in the right. It appears as awkward to us as our changing about must seem to these people, but food is the important thing in this part of the world.

Table service, in fact service of every kind and general courtesy have impressed us very much. The tram conductor says "Thank You" when he hands over a twopenny ticket. The train inspector has time to answer any question. Motorists and buses actually give the pedestrian the benefit of a doubt and time to move along.

Like England, Scotland apparently is doing its best to make the tourist welcome and as comfortable as possible. This seems a far cry for visitors, British as well as American and other nationalities. Plans are underway for the Royal family visit and for the coming music and drama festival. There are at least 38 tours into the countryside, and bookings must be made in advance.

In itself Edinburgh is an attraction. It is granite gray, but the streets are beautifully clean. Whether that is from civic pride or saving nature, it seems a good habit.

Overlooking the city stands the castle, about 270 ft. above West Princes Street and appearing to rise from sheer rock.

St. Margaret's chapel, according to the guide, was built about eight centuries ago. Other present buildings were erected in the 14th and

New York—Merchants who sell durable goods can look for a big upsurge in installment sales during the next two or three weeks, as consumers race to beat reimposition of Federal credit controls.

15th centuries. Its interest is in the fact that it was a fortress of Scottish Kings and saw siege, capture, recapture and destruction in the war with the English.

Mary Queen of Scots lived at the castle at various times, and her son, James Sixth (James I of England) was born there June 19, 1566—according to the guide, all Scot and all eloquence on Scotland's history.

The Scottish National War Memorial (World War I) on the castle grounds has the most impressive shrine we have seen. The suspended figure of St. Michael guards a casket containing the roll of honor and bearing the words "Their name Liveth." The floor was cut away so that the casket base could rest on the cliff's solid rock, highest peak on castle hill.

From the castle to the Palace of Holyroodhouse is The Royal Mile where kings and queens have ridden and where royalty still travels. Edinburgh has St. Giles, central church of the Church of Scotland, John Knox's home, the Walter Scott monument, King's Park, and so much else.

Abbotsford House, Scott's home in later years and where his library remains, is a comparatively short distance from Edinburgh and one of the day tours most visitors have seen recommended. All that Sir Walter Scott wrote about Scotland is not too much praise for the scenery. Seeing only a small part is to wish for time to see more.

The countryside is like a piece of needlepoint, dark to light shades of green, yellow and gray and thousands of tufts of white wool as sheep graze on rolling hill and in peaceful meadows.

Again, in the West Highlands from Edinburgh are the lochs, the glens, "Lady of the Lake" country, Loch Lomond and other lochs as beautiful if not as well known. Incidentally, the road winds by Loch Lomond for a distance of about 24 miles. The size of the lake was a surprise to us.

This mountain country is the land of legend and clans. As a guide noted at the Thistle chapel in St. Giles, even the angels, gay bachelors, They would in Scotland.

The new restrictions—the those of Regulation W, which was laid to rest last Nov. 1—call for substantial down payments and a much shorter time in which to pay for things ranging from automobiles to kitchen ranges.

The principal difference between the wartime controls and those about to be clamped on is the ceiling. Regulation W covered items priced up to $2,000. The new Federal Reserve restrictions, reflecting a generally higher level of prices, will go up to $4,000. Goods priced at under $50 or more than $4,000 will be exempt.

Bank credit also is going to be tighter from now on, and it is going to be harder for both business men and individuals to get loans. Moreover, there will be a moderate rise in interest rates.

Whether this will tend to stem inflation is still a moot question in this election year. It is generally agreed that even more drastic measures are necessary to stop the tidal flow of money.

THINGS TO COME—Pocket alarm watch for public speakers has a self-propelling back and a luminous face. . . . Nylon-coated wire cable is said to give longer life for such diverse items as the carriage return on a typewriter and elevator and steamboiler cables. . . . Windshields stay clear of fog when wiped with a chemically treated cloth, soon to be marketed. . . . Makers of a new laundry product contend that it gives a "fluorescent" finish to fabrics, bringing out dulled colors and making whites whiter. . . . Electric corn-popper with a built-in heating element has a wim agitator to keep kernels from burning. . . . Any housewife can make fancy designs on cake frosting with a new decal-jelly, which is applied after adding a little water. . . . Aluminum ladder, available in lengths from two to six feet, can be lifted by a six-year-old child, yet it withstands a weight of 500 pounds a step. . . . Now that electric blankets and comforters are here to stay, electric sheets are next on the merchandising list. . . . Combination sander and polisher is especially designed to work in corners and other tight places. It weighs only 2½ pounds and has only two moving parts; does not require oiling. . . . A toothbrush that carries its own paste in the handle is the latest in bathroom accessories.

Who can pay CASH?

VERY few people who build or buy a new home can pay for all of it in cash out of their savings.

Most businesses have the same problem. Some can save enough out of earnings to expand and improve their plants, but many must go to investors for construction money.

In the telephone business the margin of savings is small even in normal times. Today the margin is smaller than ever—insignificant in comparison with the construction expenditures required to meet public demand for service.

A home builder makes a down payment from savings and borrows the rest. We can't make any down payment. All the money must come from investors—part from people who lend us money through purchases of Bell System bonds; the rest from people who buy stock in the business and become part owners.

These investors have faith in the future of the Telephone Company. They entrust their money to us because they believe their investments will be safe and will pay them a fair return.

They invest on faith. We spend on faith. We have faith that people will always want and need good telephone service—and will be willing to pay a fair price for it.

Martha Macklin, Herbert Smith Wed in Suffolk August 26th

The Main Street Methodist Church in Suffolk was the setting Thursday evening, August 26, at 8 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Martha Birdsong Macklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hammond Macklin, of Suffolk, to Herbert Livingston Smith, III, of Virginia Beach and Charlottesville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Livingston Smith, Jr. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Blakemore, and the church was decorated with palms, ferns, white gladioli, and stock, and lighted candles. Dr. Adrian Standaart furnished the wedding music and a double quartet from the church choir sang "O Father All Creating," by Bach and "O Love Divine and Golden" by Dykes. Just after the benediction they sang the seven-fold amen.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white calla satin fashioned with a sheer yoke on a bertha of heirloom rosepoint lace, which had been worn by her mother on her wedding day. The close-fitting bodice extended to the low hip-line, joining the very full skirt and forming a long, circular train which was embroidered with pearls. The veil was caught at each side with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a necklace of seed pearls and topaz, an heirloom in the bridegroom's family. She carried an embroidered silk handkerchief which her great, great grandmother carried on her wedding day. Her cascade bouquet was of white orchids, bride roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John Lewis Rawls, Jr., who was her sister's matron of honor, wore a period gown, of chantilly lace over opal satin fashioned princess style with off-shoulder lace bertha and little puffed sleeves. The very full skirt joined at the hipline. She wore lace mitts and carried red carnations and croton leaves tied with red satin ribbon extending to her hemline. The maid of honor was Miss Nancy Lewis Darden, of Suffolk, cousin of the bride, who was attired in a gown of white marquisette over white taffeta fashioned with a sheer yoke, off-shoulder bertha, beque bodice, and full, hooped skirt. Her flowers were like those of the matron of honor. Miss Betty Birdsong, of Suffolk, and Miss Mary Willis Matthews, of Norfolk, cousins of the bride; Miss Elizabeth Gooch Seay, of Richmond; Miss Margaret Virginia Lee, of Forest Hills, N. Y., and Mrs. James Drewery Howard, of Suffolk, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of white marquisette and taffeta. The over-skirts of marquisette were joined at the hiplines with appliqued leaves of taffeta. Their bouquets were like those of the matron of honor. The flower girls were little Susan and Jean Birdsong, of Suffolk, cousins of the bride. Their frocks were of white net over white taffeta and they carried miniature bouquets made like those of the bridesmaids. Master McEmore Birdsong, of Charlottesville, was ring bearer and was dressed in a white suit and carried the ring on a satin pillow. H. Garret Smith, of Virginia Beach, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man, and the groomsmen were Harold Hammond Macklin, Jr., of Suffolk, brother of the bride; Hinton C. Hickman, of New York City; John Lewis Rawls, Jr., of the University of Virginia; Kemp Savage, W. Gordon Baskin, William W. McClanahan, Jr., and Clyde L. Davis, all of Virginia Beach.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of silver spruce chiffon and crepe and wore a corsage of orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother on Finner Street after which the couple left on a wedding trip to The Homestead in Hot Springs. Upon their return they will make their home in Charlottesville, Va., where they will both continue their studies at the University of Virginia.

Theatre Group Chooses Tentative Cast for Comedy

Search For Talent To Continue

A tentative cast for the Little Theatre production, "George Washington Slept Here," was selected at the Community House this week.

A spokesman for the group said that attendance for the try outs was small because of inclement weather. Despite this, she said, the quality of the talent uncovered was gratifying.

The parts are given on a one week trial basis, and the names of those selected will be made public when the period is over.

The group is still in search of talent, and anyone interested should contact Miss Carol Simpson, director.

The Workshop Committee heard a talk by Frank deWolf, member of the Scenic Artist Association, on scenic design at its meeting August 27.

Mr. deWolf recently worked on a production of "Joan of Lorraine," in Norfolk, and on the Jack-o'-lantern setting for the "Kiddies Annual Wonderland" at Norfolk City ark. Both Mr. and Mrs. deWolf live at London Bridge and present a puppet show to nearby schools and entertainment centers.

The next meeting of the Workshop will be held Friday, September 10, at the Community House. The program will be announced next week.

Virginia is one of four states in the nation in which the State is responsible for the farm-to-market roads. For this reason, Virginia's highway system is the second best in the nation.

Attendance Behind Rural High School

Rural youth in Virginia lag behind their city cousins when it comes to going to high school, a recent Agricultural Experiment Station study shows.

The study, made by Dr. W. E. Garnett, rural sociologist, also showed that, in both rural areas and cities, girls were far ahead of boys in the percentage of their total number enrolled in high schools.

Once students are enrolled in high schools, however, it was found that country girls are more likely to complete their four years and graduate than city girls. Rural boys were behind city boys in this respect.

City youths in Virginia were substantially ahead of rural youths in the percentage of their total number entering college; and in both groups girls were well ahead of boys in this category.

Dr. Garnett's study was based on the total number of boys and girls from 14 to 17 years of age living in cities and counties in 1945, on the average 1945-46 and 1946-47 high school enrollments and graduating classes, and on the average of 1945 and 1946 graduates entering college.

The Negro population in cities and counties was far behind the white population in percentage of youths enrolled in high school, and in percentage of graduates and percentage entering college. But the relationship between rural and city and between boys and girls was roughly the same for the Negroes as for the whites.

The county with the highest percentage of its white boys from 14 to 17 years of age enrolled in high school was Sussex with 87 per cent. The highest percentage for white girls was 92 in Accomac County. Lowest enrollment figure for white boys in high school was 22 per cent in Buchanan County.

VIRGINIA FOOD SHOW

The most elaborate food show to be seen in Virginia will be a featured section of the Atlantic Rural Exposition in Richmond, October 4-8. It will be put on jointly by the agricultural extension service and the Virginia Food Council, actuating and marketing will be demonstrated.

27 per cent each, had the lowest figures for white girls.

Joyce Hunter First Arrival for Coed
Finals At Surf Club

Amidst happy birthday greetings and farewells Miss Joyce Hunter, of El Paso, Texas, boarded a plane to Virginia Beach to participate in the Miss American Coed Finals at the Surf Club tonight.

"Just 21 years young," Miss Hunter arrived at the Norfolk airport early Tuesday morning unexpected, un-met and slightly under the weather.

After a short delay at the airport she was driven to the Jefferson Hotel at Virginia Beach where she will stay during her visit.

"I am so excited," she exclaimed, "that I haven't eaten or had a good night's rest in days."

Later that afternoon, Miss Hunter, the first of eleven contestants to arrive here, was taken to lunch by Jim Naah, advertising director of the Virginia Beach News, and her escort for the three-day gala affair.

Miss Hunter, who is a tall, willow blonde, said that her father, a doctor, was unable to make the trip here with her due to the many babies being born in El Paso this week.

"I was so excited about the trip here that I forgot to bring a bathing suit. I guess that it's the one thing that I should have brought," she said.

"I knew, too, in April that I was coming here but I had to listen to the radio to find out. Three weeks after I had heard the announcement on the Sammy Kaye program the sponsors of the contest notified me."

Despite the fact that Miss Hunter forgot to bring her bathing suit, she did bring an abundance of Texas charm and naturalness of manner.

A recent applicant to enlist in the Navy was a determined young man. Told that he could not qualify because the little finger on his right hand was paralyzed, he had the finger amputated and re-applied. He got in.

On September 10 there will be a double display of fireworks. According to the park manager, it will be the greatest display ever to be put on in the Tidewater area. The display, put on in honor of the Shriners convention, will include many set pieces symbolic of the Shriners.

The management also announced a reduction in the prices of all rides. This policy will be in force during the hours through 8 p.m.

All of the educational features of the Atlantic Rural Exposition will be free to school children. Students through high school will be admitted free to the grounds during fair week, October 4-9. Special invitations will be issued during September.

during the Pennsylvania National

Father Brennan has been pastor of the church since it was first

A special Mass was said for the guardmen in the Star of the Sea
Church by their chaplain, the Rev.
Thomas A. Brennan, who brought out in his sermon that he was professed a Jesuit on the same day on which Father Brennan began his pastoral work in Virginia Beach.

Plan Construction of Wharf 30 Feet Wide
On Long Creek

O. C. Marshall, of Oceana, has requested an Army Department permit to construct a wharf in front of his property on Long Creek, on the south side, about 1,100 feet upstream from the highway bridge on Secondary Route 615, Princess Anne County, Va., according to a public notice issued by the Norfolk District Corps of Engineers.

The plan submitted provides for an open-pile wharf 30 feet wide, extending 13 feet channelward.

Objections to the proposed wharf, from the standpoint of navigation, must be submitted to the Norfolk District Engineers on or before September 10.

State Highway engineers estimate that for every dollar needed to bring Virginia's road system to desired standards, only ten cents is available.

at work to enlarge the space and

New Town Manager Advocates Publication of Monthly Report Of Town's Financial Statement

Reversal of Policy Accepted by Council; Change Meeting Date

Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood has announced that a statement of the Town's receipts and disbursements will be made available to members of the Virginia Beach Town Council, to members of the press, and will be posted on the Town Hall's bulletin board on the second Tuesday of each month.

Mr. Lockwood recommended a change in the Council's meeting date to conform with the release of the financial statement, suggesting that meetings should be held on the second Tuesday of each month at 4 p. m., D. S. T. or E. S. T., whichever is in effect in the area on the date of the meeting. Recommending a 10-year plan of gradual improvement in streets, sewerage and other necessary development, Mr. Lockwood re-emphasized the fact that Virginia Beach is a town of approximately 4,500 permanent residents who are required to supply facilities equal to those of a city of 50,000 persons. He said that many problems confront the resort and that time will be required to solve all of them.

The new Town Manager spoke at the first meeting he has attended in his official capacity, in the Town Hall Tuesday at 8 p. m. Newly elected members of the Council, R. G. Barr and R. L. Simpson, also assumed the duties of their offices at this meeting, as did G. C. Manson, appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Councilman W. F. Patton as Mayor, and Henry Gregory, who was appointed by the Council to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Councilman H. A. Holt, Jr.

Members of the Council re-appointed Trial Justice E. V. Gresham, with J. Clarence Hayman to succeed Councilman Barr as assistant Trial Justice; R. E. Smith was re-appointed as Town Attorney, and Tom Gresham was re-appointed as license inspector and delinquent tax collector. Whit G. Seasons was named as a member of the school committee.

Engineer Carroll Bounds reported to the Council that plans and specifications for additions to the Willoughby T. Cooke School have been approved by the State School Board and that bids will be advertised immediately following a meeting with the Princess Anne County School Board, the Town's Finance Committee and the engineer.

Discussion of annexation proposals was tabled pending additional investigation by the Survey Committee. Mr. Bounds and Mr. Lockwood.

Vacant Properties Must Be Reported, Fire Chief Warns

Chief Bayne Reminds Owners Leaving Town To File Notice

Virginia Beach Fire Chief E. B. Bayne has reminded property owners that a Town Ordinance provides that, whenever property is to be vacated or closed for a period of thirty days or more, notice is to be given to the Fire Department so that necessary inspections of the premises may be made by the department.

Chief Bayne said that the ordinance was designed to safeguard the interests of the property owners. Inspectors made periodic inspections of vacant properties in order to see that no fire hazards have been created during the absence of the owners, he said.

Section 13 of the Town Code provides that "every owner or owners, operator or operators, manager or managers of every factory, workshop, mill, saw-mill or place of any kind is carried on, hotel, mercantile establishment, rooming house, apartment house, office building, store or garage shall report to the Fire Department whenever the said premises shall be vacated or closed for a period of thirty (30) days or more."

"Violation of this Section is hereby declared a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five ($25) Dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) Dollars and in addition thereto shall be liable to the Town of Virginia Beach for any expenses incurred in the abatement of fire hazards in said buildings or upon the premises."

AA's To Begin Fall Meeting Series

Aloholics Anonymous will hold open meetings throughout the Fall and Winter months in the Men's Bible Class Room of the Methodist Church on 15th Street. It was announced today. The first meeting is scheduled Thursday, September 16, at 8:30 p. m. All interested persons have been invited to attend.

Eastern Star Order Serving Meals At Masonic Lodge Hall

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star will serve meals in the Masonic Hall, Arctic Avenue at 26th Street, from 7 a. m. through 7 p. m. today and tomorrow.

Driskill Asks Property Owners To Plan Beautification Program Now

C. H. Driskill, chairman of the Virginia Beach Beautification Commission, has asked for the cooperation of Beach property owners in planning now for property improvements and beautification before Spring.

In a letter to residents of the town, Mr. Driskill reminded them that the Commission had adopted a plan last Spring, asking the cooperation of property owners along the waterfront in planting two varieties of petunias, balcony blue and rosy morn, as a start toward beautifying the town.

"To those who did plant petunias the Commission wants to offer its thanks," he wrote. "To those who did not find time or feel inclined to plant, the Commission would like to repeat its request that this planting be considered for springtime next year. Beautification of a community can only be effective when the spirit of the movement is enjoyed by all the residents of that community."

Mr. Driskill pointed out that many vacant lots, previously unkept, had been cleared and beautified during the Spring and Summer seasons and said that, "On the whole, Virginia Beach afforded a much more beautiful picture to visitors than ever before." He said there is yet much to be done and asked property owners to "consider now springtime planting and fixing up so that Virginia Beach will soon become known as the most beautiful resort in the world."

"Remember, petunias all along Atlantic Avenue next year," he concluded.

28 Clubs Represented In Joint Meeting of Two Associations

The meeting of East and West is coupled with a meeting of Mid-Atlantic and Southeastern Shrine Associations in Virginia Beach today and the town resembles a novelist's description of Mecca, Cairo or Istanbul.

Colorful banners stretch across doorways and shop windows, welcoming Nobles of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Fronting 17th Street at Ocean Avenue, a sacred Camel is perched atop a miniature pyramid. A tasseled red fez adorns the dome of each beaming Shriner, unusual contraptions with strange decorations dart about with motorized celerity, clowns in bright colored costumes and bewhiskered gentlemen of unknown lineage mingle with natives and visitors in more or less circuslike attire.

The occasion celebrates the first joint meeting of the Mid-Atlantic and Southeastern Shrine Associations and the visitors, estimated at approximately 8,000 in number including their wives and guests, are embarking on the second day of a three-day joint celebration, with a variety of events scheduled intermittently throughout today and tomorrow.

In addition to today's opening exercises at 10 a. m. in the Beach Theatre Building, at which Governor William M. Tucker will deliver an address of welcome, coupled with a meeting of the Southeastern Patrol in the Town Hall at 10:30 a. m., Shriners and their guests will observe a demonstration by the United States Navy Air Force at 2 p. m., and will select a "Queen" in a "Queen for a Day" contest at 2 p. m. until 2:30 p. m.

A spectacular street parade, to be led by the Khedive Temple, in Norfolk, hosts for the joint meetings, will begin at 3:30 p. m., with Acca Temple, of Richmond; Karem Temple, of Roanoke; the Ocean Temple, of Charlotte, N. C.; the Sudan Temple, of New Bern, N. C.; and Egypt Temple, of Tampa, Florida, participating in uniform.

Other temples represented will include the Almas Temple, of Mobile, Alabama; Alcazar of Montgomery, Alabama; Al Chrym, of Memphis, Tennessee; Alia, of Savannah, Georgia; Alhambra, of Chattanooga, Tennessee; Al Mahal, of Nashville, Tennessee; Al Sihah, of Macon, Georgia; Hammah, of Meridian, Mississippi; Hejles of Greenville, South Carolina; the Jerusalem, of New Orleans, Louisiana; Kereba, of Knoxville, Tennessee; Mahal, of Miami, Florida; Morocco, of Jacksonville, Florida; Yaarah, of Atlanta, Georgia; and Zamora, of Birmingham, Alabama, members of the Southeastern Shrine Association.

Other temples represented from the Mid-Atlantic group will include the Almas Temple, of Washington, D. C.; Al Ghan, of Cumberland, Maryland; Beaul, of Baltimore, Maryland; Crescent, of Trenton, N. J.; Oasis, of Wheeling, W. Va.; and Salam, of Newark, N. J.

The "Queen" of the "Queen for a Day" contest will be crowned in ceremonies scheduled from 8 p. m. until 8:45 p. m., followed by a fireworks display and dancing.

After a day of ceremonies, including drills, a fashion show, a demonstration by the United States Coast Guard and a tour for the ladies, Saturday's program will be climaxed by the Grand Shrine Ball in the Cavalier Beach Club.

COMING AND GOING!

It is a little difficult to understand the attitude of some of our officials in the Town of Virginia Beach and the County of Princess Anne regarding the establishment of a new ferry terminal at a point approximately eight miles below Cape Charles.

The State Highway Department has come in for considerable criticism for opposing the expenditure of approximately $1 million of the taxpayers' money for the construction of adequate highways from Cape Charles to the new terminal.

Operators of the Cape Charles-Little Creek ferries claim that approximately 35 minutes could be cut off the time schedule by relocation of the terminal and that, unless this is accomplished, the Company will be forced to apply for increased rates. They claim, also, that the flow of traffic could be expedited by changing the terminal location.

We wonder. Couldn't the flow of traffic be expedited by the addition of adequate ferry boats, at the expense of the Company, as easily as it could be expedited by the expenditure of funds for new road construction, drained from the public purse? One of the line's better boats, the Virginia Lee, was requisitioned by the United States Government during the war. The Company was reimbursed with the taxpayer's dollars. Why shouldn't the ferry company re-invest these dollars in additional ferry boats? Why should the public again be forced to pay, this time in increased fares or, perhaps, in increased gasoline taxes?

Will the Pennsylvania Railroad, large stockholders in the Virginia Ferry Company, extend their rail lines to the new terminal? Or will their passengers, now making direct connections with the ferries, be required to transfer to buses, unloading, re-loading and again unloading their luggage after an eight-mile bus trip at the end of a weary train ride?

And where and how, incidentally, will Princess Anne County or Virginia Beach benefit from expediting this flow of traffic when a large majority of the vehicles arriving at Little Creek by ferry see only such portions of Princess Anne as may be observed in quick flight over Route 13, leading north or south?

Why not, instead, assist the State Highway Department in considering funds in this instance and exert every effort to direct those funds to the development of a highway from Virginia Beach to the North Carolina border, so that travelers leaving Little Creek may pass through the County and Virginia Beach on a route that would save them far more traveling time on their Southern journey than a change in the ferry terminal would save? The North Carolina legislature has agreed to meet Virginia's road, should such a road be constructed, and to build a new highway to connect with one of the main southern arteries.

If this were done, Virginia Beach could extend its season to include March and April, attracting returning Florida vacationers at the close of their season, and continuing through November, December and January to attract South-bound vacationers for stop-over visits.

As we see it, the proposed change in the ferry terminal would be of little value to the Town or the County and offers only a means of requiring the taxpayers to pay to relieve a situation brought about by the inadequate supply of ferry facilities provided by the ferry company.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE?

The people spoke in the June councilmanic election. That fact has been evident since the election returns were tabulated, showing that 150 votes withdrawn from the elected candidates and cast for their opponents would have changed the election results.

Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood's statement to the effect that a report of the Town's financial condition will be made available to the public on the second Tuesday of each month indicates the trend of the times. No doubt Mr. Lockwood deserves credit for this far-reaching reversal of policy, but it is doubtful that he could have pre-valailed had the Council objected.

It is possible that our elected representatives have learned that the taxpayers are the stockholders of the Town, fully authorized to demand an accounting of any elected or appointed official for the expenditure of funds or the performance of his duties? Let us hope so.
for in this way the Town's paid executives, its Board of Directors, superior and lesser employees will strive to excel in discharging their responsibilities so that they may continue to earn the approval of their employers, the citizens of Virginia Beach.

Let us hope for the re-birth of government of the people, for the people and by the people, rather than government of, by and for a favored few.

When the atomic bomb dropped on Japan, it awakened in us folks the realization of the destructive power of atomic energy. When Mrs. Kasenkina dropped to the pavement outside the Russian consulate in New York it should have awakened us to the destructive power of a police state. Those that would create a centralized government in America by taking away powers belonging to the sovereign states, are opening windows out of which once free Americans will be forced to jump, rather than live under such a government.

The man who is waiting for something to turn up might do well to start with his shirt sleeves.

If us folks in America would follow the Bible and the Constitution as they are written, instead of trying to by-pass them we would soon get out of the mess we are now in.

TIME WILL TELL

Proposals for the reopening of the Tidewater Victory Memorial Hospital as a Community Hospital to serve the needs of the people of Princess Anne County have "died in Committee."

From the beginning, it has been evident that State authorities were "dead set" against reopening the hospital, although the valuable property was constructed through public subscription and deeded to the State in return for continued maintenance as a hospital for tuber-culous patients.

The State, shortly thereafter, leased the buildings to the U. S.
Army for use as an officers' club, dispersed the patients and equipment, and, upon its return to the State, adopted a resolution authorizing the sale of the property by the State Health Commission.

Protests from the people brought a reluctant agreement by the Commission to permit the people to reopen the hospital as a Community Hospital if some sponsoring organization were formed that could show "proof of financial responsibility" for the operation and maintenance of the unit.

Strangely, the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors, at first amenable to the request of the people provided no expense was charged to the County, later rescinded their action and withdrew their approval.

Despite the pleas of the County Medical Association and other endorses of the proposals, committee meeting after committee meeting was held without accomplishment toward finding out whether or not the people were willing to contribute toward re-equipping the hospital, at an estimated cost of $70,000, and toward financing its maintenance until it could become self supporting. Physicians pointed to the urgent need of the unit, in view of Norfolk's congested hospital situation, and estimated that the Community Hospital could be self-supporting at 60 per cent of capacity.

As it stands at the present time, the people who worked so diligently to construct the Tidewater Victory Memorial Hospital and contributed funds to honor their heroes of World War I have been defrauded and now find that they simply have made an enormous contribution to the State, having no choice in the matter.

We feel that the State authorities have shown a disgusting exhibition of bad faith. We do not understand why the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors were persuaded to stand supinely by making no effort to salvage valuable buildings that might have become the property of Princess Anne County with very little cost and with the cooperation of the people toward sharing the cost of maintenance. We do not understand why, from the first meeting, "committees" industriously compiled "names" of possible contributors and then decided to abandon the proposal without soliciting a contribution.

Time alone will supply the answer. It will be interesting to follow the fate of the Tidewater Victory Memorial Hospital and to observe the incidents pertaining to its disposal, acquisition and future use.

FANTASTIC!

The Dallas Morning News recently ran an editorial on the government's suit against the railroads for allegedly overcharging the government $2 billion on freight moved during the war. In it, it made this ill-important point: "This is not a case originated by a hostile party taking over the books of previous incumbents. It is a series of claims made against an operation which could not have occurred at all without the official sanction of the administration."

The railroads did not quote the government rates on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Instead—at the government's request—they set up a committee of experts to arrange the charges. This committee was given the formal approval of the then assistant attorney general who had charge of anti-trust proceedings. Every rate arrangement made had to be approved by the responsible government official concerned before it became operative. In not a single instance was the government charged a rate higher than that quoted to commercial shippers.

In most instances the rate was less, and often by a very large margin.
As for profits, the government paid the railroads $5,500,000,000 in freight charges during 1942-45, inclusive. In those same years the railroads paid back $3,600,000,000 in taxes. Thus, if the government were now to win its case for $2 billion, the railroads would have paid out $62,000,000 more than they received for the magnificent job they did in moving war freight!

These are facts of record. During the war, when speed was all-important, the railroads followed a system of rate making which was both suggested and approved by the government. What more could they have done?

I sure hope that them Missouri farmers have better luck with the crop they planted on "turnip day" than did their neighbor that lives in the White House. Sometimes I believe Harry sowed beets instead of turnips as there sure is a lot of "Red" talk coming out of Washington here of late.

The Republicans with Dewey and Warren, have a coast to coast political hook-up but the reception ain't going to be so good because of their platform's interference with States' Rights.

Accident-Free Year in Traffic for School Children Here Is Goal As AAA Offers Safety Aids To Teachers

With the goal of an accident-free year in traffic for school children here, the re-opening of schools brings back familiar school safety patrol protection at hazardous corners and a renewal by the Tidewater Automobile Association of its assistance to teachers in their classroom safety education programs supporting the patrols.

"Teachers in the Princess Anne County area will be supplied again this year with thousands of colorful traffic safety posters and educator-prepared graded lesson ideas to help them develop life-long habits of proper street use in our children," John B. Dey, vice president of the association, announced today.

"Teachers here are among some 200,000 throughout the country who receive monthly aids produced by educators for the American Automobile Association with which the Tidewater Automobile Association is affiliated," he said. "Classroom safety education and the work of the school safety patrols have saved thousands of child lives and prevented thousands of injuries. As a matter of fact, traffic fatalities involving children 5 to 14 years of age dropped 25 per cent from 1928 to 1946, while fatalities involving all other age groups increased 35 per cent."

"September classroom safety education materials, to be provided by the club, include a colorful poster entitled "Obey Your Safety Patrol." It is one of ten monthly posters, each of which was a first-place winner in the Fourth National School Safety Poster Con-

Schools To Open On Eastern Standard Time Schedule

Princess Anne County schools and the Willoughby T. Cooke School in Virginia Beach will operate on Eastern Standard Time, according to School Superintendent Frank W. Cox, and will open Monday according to schedule.

Mrs. Charles Field, president of the Virginia Beach Parent-Teacher Association, said today that there is some confusion in the minds of parents concerning whether or not the daily schedule would begin on Eastern Standard or on Daylight Saving Time and asked for the publication of definite information.

Pupils enrolling for the current semester have been asked to register today in the schools of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

Test, conducted by the AAA. The September winning poster was drawn by Owen Grant, of Central Catholic High School, Toledo, Ohio. The contest is being conducted again this school year to develop student-drawn designs for the 1948-49 school posters."

"Each month during the school year the club will furnish 3,000 of these posters and 3,500 lesson-units for the use of teachers in determining the best ways to integrate safety education with the regular school subjects," Mr. Dey said.

Princess Anne Garden Club To Meet Monday

The Princess Anne Garden Club will hold its first Fall meeting Monday, September 13, at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Walter Mitchell on Cavalier Drive.

This will be a business meeting with Miss Elizabeth Gregory Hill, president, presiding. All members are asked to be present, if possible.

"Tough" Cop Caged By Hilarious Visiting Nobles

Patrolman Page Garrison, Virginia Beach's edition of the proverbial "tough" cop with a soft heart, found himself hemmed in by circumstances Thursday afternoon after an encounter with visiting Nobles from the Portsmouth Club, who were celebrating the joint Shrine Association meeting with high good humor and considerable originality.

Having constructed a motorized float containing a large wire cage, the visiting Nobles were cruising along Atlantic Avenue collecting a bevy of local beauties and transporting them along the Avenue, in the cage, for one and all to admire.

Patrolman Garrison, disconcerted, no doubt, at finding so many of the lovely ladies undismayed and apparently enjoying their brief imprisonment, protested once to often—whereupon he found himself in the cage and the ladies outside, thoroughly enjoying his discomfiture as he became the center of attraction as he was slowly driven up and down the main stem.

"King Neptune" to Reign At Hampton Seafood Festival

"King Neptune" will reign supreme in Hampton Friday night, September 17, when the National Seafood Festival's Queen Lorelei, of Hampton, and her Princesses from nearby towns and villages will be presented to the Court and feasted at a dance honoring the King and Queen. Eddie Duchin and his orchestra will provide the musical entertainment.

Miss Corky Crowley, New York model, will preside as Queen Lorelei. She will be crowned by Admiral William F. Halsey, USN, retired.

Mrs. Shirley M. Richardson has been chosen to represent Virginia Beach as one of the Princesses in the Queen's Court. She will be sponsored by the Virginia Beach Rotary Club.

The occasion, headlined as "King Neptune's Night," will be the highlight of the National Seafood Festival, opening in Hampton Thursday, September 16.

Approximately 10,000 persons are expected to attend the Festival Ball, to be staged in an aircraft hanger at the Langley Air Force Base.

New Aides Added To Little Theatre Ticket Committee

Mrs. J. D. W. Cassada, chairman of the ticket committee of the Little Theatre of Virginia Beach, Inc., has appointed additional members to serve with the board of directors on the ticket committee.

The new appointees include: Major H. L. Yerby, Comdr. W. E. Kenna, Sam Pidgeon, Mrs. S. C. Foote, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Wolcott, Jr., Mrs. M. W. Hillman, Mrs. W. W. Connell, Jr., Mrs. T. C. Berry, Mrs. J. M. Woolf, Mrs. L. R. Dyer, Jr., Mrs. W. P. Kellam, Mrs. Pudney Maloney and Misses Mary Jayne Billey and Dorothy Spence.

Major Yerby and Comdr. Kenna also are members of the board of directors, but have been specially appointed to the committee as a contact for members of the armed forces and their families.

Season tickets for the four productions to be given this season by the group, the first of which will be "George Washington Slept Here," on October 11-12, may be obtained from any member of the committee. For further information telephone Mrs. Cassada at Virginia Beach 959-W.

The Workshop Committee of the Little Theatre will meet Friday (tonight) at the Community House at 8 o'clock. The study of make-up under the direction of Miss Cora Lynn Chaffee, program chairman of the group, will be continued. The members will also hear the Maurice Evans-Judith Anderson recording of "Macbeth."

The daughter of a civilian employee at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., had a chronic case of hiccoughs so she was taken for a ride in a plane which zoomed, rolled and snapped in an effort to scare her out of them. The ride didn't cure the girl, but it made her father pretty sick.

Trends In Furs, Suits And Millinery Feature Shrine Fashion Show

Wives of Shrine members and their guests will be entertained with a showing of fall fashions in furs, suits and millinery in the Ocean Club, Atlantic Avenue at 16th Street, at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Hofheimer will give a narrative commentary on the new fashions, to be modeled by Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. C. R. Harris, Mrs. J. C. Aspinwall, Jr., Mrs. Richard Wood, Mrs. Menard Dowell, III, Miss Nan Cooke Ferebee, Mrs. Luther Marshall, Jr., Mrs. Wallace Clark, Mrs. M. Z. Miller and Mrs. Richard McCoughey.

Horticulturist Advises Washing Grapes to Remove Spray Agents

How to wash grapes to remove spray residue—if you object to spray residue—has been explained by Bruce Arolan, associate horticulturist for the Agricultural Extension Service.

The specialist says to avoid washing if possible; but, "It is better to produce disease-free fruit than to omit sprays to avoid washing."

Grapes may be washed by dipping them in water containing 1 per cent of commercial hydrochloric or acetic acid.

If you want to wash small quantities of grapes for home use, the spray can be removed by dipping the fruit in a solution of one part vinegar and five parts water.

With either method, rinse the grapes in clear water before eating.

Training School At Charity Church September 23-24

The Rev. J. W. Reynolds, pastor of the South Princess Anne Charge, said today that Methodist youth, parents, and Sunday school teachers are awaiting the opening of the annual Princess Anne Leadership Training School to be held at Charity Church September 23 and 24 with keen anticipation.

Enrollment blanks are now in the hands of the pastors, he said, and those desiring to take advantage of the opportunities for Christian enrichment afforded by this school may enroll immediately.

The sessions will begin nightly at 7:30, and the courses to be taught will offer credit certificates upon the completion of required work. The three subjects of study will be "Ways of Teaching," "Youth and Worship," and "Understanding Children."

Children's Bureau Gets New Home from Contemplated Savings

Richmond—Initial operational savings of more than $45,000 a year in the new Department of Welfare and Institutions were indicated today with approval by Governor Tuck of the purchase out of these savings of the old "Spring Street property," for the Children's Bureau, in Richmond.

Colonel Richard W. Copeland, acting director of the department, listed contemplated savings in this year's budget as a result of the reorganization program totaling $45,574. The Governor approved the expenditure of $35,000 of this sum for acquisition of the property.

"If space were not provided for the Bureau of Direct Child Care," Colonel Copeland said, "the rental for this particular unit would cost at least $13,640 a year. This is the unit that will be housed in the Spring Street Home. This move will provide this unit with ample space and better accommodations."

This bureau heretofore has been housed in the basement of the old Medical College of Virginia building, which is again to be occupied by medical college facilities.

These initial savings in the new department do not reflect the total anticipated savings to be effected in the department. The studies of the reorganization staff, headed by Charles J. Duke, Jr., have not been completed but have gone far enough to identify items more than sufficient to cover the proposed expenditure. They will be realized in the elimination of some ten positions, some of which are now vacant and had been held open in anticipation of the reorganizational program.

Colonel Copeland, in cooperation with the reorganization staff, worked out the program of savings in the initial realignment of agencies under the department. Studies are continuing in this department, as well as others covered by the Reorganization Act of 1948.

Norfolk County Agent Succeeds Hall to Head State Farm Group

L. B. Wilkins, Norfolk County agent, was named to succeed C. L. Hall, Halifax agent, as president of the Virginia Farm Agents Association at the annual meeting held recently in conjunction with the Agricultural Extension Service conference at Blacksburg.

Other officers elected were: R. A. Farmer, Richmond County, as vice president; J. E. Delp, Scott, secretary-treasurer; and W. H. Lyne, Rappahannock, sergeant-at-arms.

The association is affiliated with the National County Agents' Association, it was explained; and the incoming and retiring presidents and the secretary-treasurer will attend the national convention in Chicago this fall.

At concurrent sessions, members of the Virginia Home Demonstration Agents' Association named Miss Chilton Ryburn, home agent in Prince George County, vice president, and reelected Miss Marie Bundy, Smyth County, as treasurer.

Miss Eva Minix, Rockbridge, president, Mrs. Ruth B. Huff, Albemarle, corresponding secretary, and Miss Anna Burnett, Prince Edward, recording secretary, all have one more year in office to complete their two-year terms.

An "armed mob" scare at the San Francisco Naval Shipyard recently turned out happily for all concerned when station police rounded up the "rioters"—ten Ma- drilled in extended order marches in undress uniform being very under arms.

Seatack Volunteer Firefighters Earn Training Credits

Certificates Awarded 32 Volunteers After Six Weeks Course

Clay Easterly, State Fire Prevention Training Instructor, has awarded certificates to 32 members of the newly organized Seatack Volunteer Fire Department after a six-week training course in firefighting and fire prevention. Under the leadership of the Rev. David Wright, president, the department was organized early in July, with Cylester Shaw as chief, Aaron Parsons as assistant chief, Bernard Edney as captain, Joe Dukes as lieutenant, and Henry White, Joseph V. Grinstead and L. C. Northern as engineers.

Officers of the unit, in addition to President Wright, are Joseph Grinstead, first vice president, H. L. Robinson, secretary, and John Sharp, treasurer. Enoch Morgan and Vernon Everett are listed as directors.

Certificates were presented to the 32 graduates of the training school by Mr. Easterly Wednesday night in the Baptist Church at Seatack. Virginia Beach Fire Chief E. B. Bayne, who assisted in organizing the unit, and Oceana Fire Chief Houston Gimbart were among the invited guests at the

Housewives Stick to Apples Family Likes Survey Reveals

Mrs. Housewife and her family probably would be satisfied with less than 20 different varieties of apples, as shown by results of a consumer preference survey by the Agricultural Extension Service.

Meanwhile, growers keep on producing more than 100 commercial apple varieties, says Dr. J. L. Maxton, marketing specialist who conducted the survey.

Leader on the consumer's apple hit parade was Red Delicious, followed closely by Winesap. These two varieties made up about two-fifths of the variety preference demand for apples. Stayman variety ranked third, with Jonathan fourth, Rome Beauty fifth, and Grimes Golden sixth. This group of four varieties made up a second two-fifths of the preferences reported.

The survey points out that Virginia growers produce more York Imperials than any other variety, although they rank eighth in consumer preference. The second most widely grown variety in this state is Winesap; the third is Stayman.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

One Great American Trait

I always think it does a paper editor good to get outside his desk and see how things look in other parts of America. I don't think, and act.

And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles these different points of view.

I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—yes, of those who prefer individual tastes and habits—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!

MARKETING

Are you planning to pick up and picnic this week end? Then I know you're hoping, so I can, for warm, sunny weather. But if it should turn out to be chilly or rainy, don't let that interfere with your plans. Go ahead and have your picnic anywhere... at home. That way your family won't feel let down, and you won't have to make up a regular meal at the last minute.

It's no picnic being thirsty on a picnic, so be sure to take plenty of refreshing soft drinks on your outing! You'll find a big variety of "wholesome waters" at your A&P...

...each as enjoyable as the other, and all thirstily priced. Make A&P your thirst aid headquarters!

QUICK AND EASY

If you go in for campfire cookery, you'll get yards of enjoyment from ENCORE Prepared SPAGHETTI.

It's mighty good cooked at home on the range, too, so get a few cans at the A&P. Made with a tasty sauce of tomatoes, spices and cheese, all you have to do is heat it. And if you want an extra hearty dish for 8 hearty eaters, combine 2 cans of this ravioli spaghetti with 2 cans of red beans; mix well in a skillet; add 2 cups of chili powder, and heat thoroughly. Add green pepper and onion rings if you like 'em. Grand indoors or out!

SWANK FOR SALADS

For the best-dressed table ever in vegetable salad, that's over a picnic, try this tangy dressing made with WHITE HOUSE MILK, the creamy-rich evaporated milk sold at the A&P. It's blended 1/2 cup prepared mustard, 1/2 cup salt, 1 cup sugar, a dash of cayenne and 1 cup undiluted WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK.

Add 1 thin vinegar gradually stirring till thick. Enough for 8 servings of salad.

ENJOY-SIZE SANDWICHES

Where there's a grill, there's a way to enjoy MARYEL HAMBURGER ROLLS in their special role of partners for sizzling hamburgers. But even if your picnic equipment doesn't include a grill, these delicious, freshly baked rolls from the A&P can have their innings on your outings. They're perfect for big he-man sandwiches of all kinds because they hold so much filling.

LAUGH IT OFF

A Revenue Department officer was assigned to investigate some Kentucky characters. As he entered the house, a bright-looking young lad greeted him.

"Where's your pappy?" the officer asked.

"Pappy's up at the still." "I'll give you a dollar if you will take me up there," offered the officer.

"All right," said the boy. "Give me the dollar." "I'll give it to you when we get back."

"No, sir, mister, give it to me now," insisted the youngster. "You ain't a - comin' back!" — Chicago Daily News.

Sally Lunns

By MOLLIE MARTIN
Sally Lunns, Sally Lunns. There's something romantic and attractive about that name which prepares us for the pleasure of eating these delicious hot breads. They are named, you know, for a woman who is said to have baked them and sold them on the streets of Bath, England, many long years ago.

Long a favorite in America as well as in England, Sally Lunns provides a new thrill today because of a novel recipe which makes it possible to prepare them in a very few minutes. That's a long departure from the days of historic Virginia when women were advised "should you want them for supper, make them up at 10 o'clock in the morning in winter and before noon in summer."

Why, with the "Ever-Ready" recipe we are giving you here, you can now make them up in a half hour before lunch, or dinner, or supper! And a lot less work is involved, too! This particular recipe is the one that calls for all the preliminary mixing of flour, double-acting baking powder and fat -- to be made up in large amounts, all ready for many basic hot breads such as biscuits, pancakes, waffles and, of course, Sally Lunns. You can decide to have this superb hot bread just by adding sugar, egg and milk to the Ever-Ready Blend. Then place the mixture in muffin pans with sugar, cinnamon and butter -- and there you have Sally Lunns. How about having some for dinner tonight!

Quick Sally Lunns
3 cups Ever-Ready Blend
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon melted butter

Mix together brown sugar, cinnamon, and butter; sprinkle over top of batter. Bake in hot oven (350° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Makes 8 large or 12 medium muffins.

Ever-Ready Blend
15 cups (3 quarts) sifted flour
4 tablespoons salt
3 tablespoons salt
2 cups (1 pound) shortening
Sift flour once. Measure 3 cups at a time into sifter, adding a tablespoon (2 teaspoons) baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt for each 3 cup amount; sift into large bowl. Repeat until full amount of dry ingredients has been added. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until fairly divided and mixture resembles coarse meal. Makes about 14 cups Ever-Ready Blend.

Place in glass jar or crockery bowl and cover lightly with cloth or plastic to allow circulation of air. Store in refrigerator or other very cool, dry place. Keeps well for 3 or 4 weeks.

To Make Biscuits. For 10 to 11 biscuits, measure 3 cups Ever-Ready Blend into bowl. Add about 1/4 cup milk and stir until a soft dough is formed. (Use more or less milk depending upon particular flour used.) Turn out dough on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Pat or roll 1/4-inch thick and cut with floured 3-inch biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450° F.) 15 to 18 minutes.

C. & P. Directors Vote Funds for Expansion

Appropriations amounting to $1,137,725 for further expansion and improvement of telephone service in Virginia were approved by the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at its August meeting, according to an announcement by A. L. Lambdin, vice president and general manager of the company.

An expenditure of $233,000 was included for nearly 19 miles of cable to provide service to the rapidly growing north section of Newport News. More than $656,000 was included to provide improvement and expansion of facilities to serve areas in Virginia suburban to Washington. Provision of additional long distance circuits from Roanoke to Norton and St. Paul are provided in an appropriation of $48,600.

Other projects involving expenditures amounting to $194,825 were included for expansion and improvement of service in other locations in the state.

In the world!

It's so easy to make a telephone call. A five-year-old can do it. Yet, whenever you use your telephone, you're using the biggest, most complex machine ever made by man. For your telephone is a tiny part of a vast, nation-wide network of wires,

A Journal Devoted to the Interests of Princess Anne County and the State of Virginia

Vol. 33 — No. 44

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA — FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1948

SINGLE COPY 5c — $2.00 PER YEAR

School Enrollment for '48 Shows 30 Pupil Increase Over '46 in Princess Anne

Enrollment Increases Noted At Bayside, Kempsville Schools

Princess Anne County's schools have enrolled 3,332 white pupils for the current school year, as compared to an enrollment of 3,089 for the 1947-48 school year, according to School Superintendent Frank W. Cox. This would indicate an increase above last year's enrollment of 343 white pupils.

A comparison of Mr. Cox's figures with those of a report from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for the year 1945-46 indicates that white school enrollments dropped in the county last year, with 313 pupils less than the 3302 enrollments listed by the State Superintendent for the 1945-46 term. Analysis indicates that 30 students above the 1945-46 level are enrolled this year.

Colored school enrollments, according to Mr. Cox, remained at approximately the same level shown last year, 1,750. According to the figures of the State Superintendent, this indicates a decrease in the 1946-47 term over the preceding year of 73 colored students, with 1,823 enrollments listed for 1946-47.

Actual enrollment figures are listed below:

	From the State Superintendent's Annual Report of 1945-46	1945-46	1946-47	1947-48
White	3302	3302	3332	3332
Colored	1750	1750	1750	1750

The County Superintendent said that, because of the increase in enrollment, it probably will be necessary to add about five more teachers. Two teachers were added at the beginning of the term.

The enrollment figures in the different schools are as follows: Oceana elementary, 570; Oceana High, 403; Kempsville elementary, 506; Kempsville High, 318; W. T. Cooke, 492; Bayside elementary, 411; Creeds elementary, 224; Creeds High, 124; and Princess Anne Court House elementary, 193.

Mr. Cox pointed out that the greatest increases were in Kempsville and Bayside schools, both of which are close to Norfolk and have increased in population rapidly in the last year.

Soybeans Subsidized At $2.18 Per Bushel, According to Lane

R. W. Lane, chairman of the Princess Anne County Agricultural Committee, has announced that a price support of $2.18 a bushel for 1948-crop green and yellow soybeans grading U. S. No. 2 and containing not more than 14 per cent moisture, has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to R. B. Bridgforth, chairman of the State PMA Committee. Price support for the 1947-crop green and yellow soybeans was $2.34 a bushel. Black, brown and mixed varieties of 1948-crop soybeans will be supported at $1.98 a bushel.

The price supports announced today are in accordance with legislative requirements that soybeans be supported at 90 per cent of the "comparable price" on September 1, 1948. A "comparable price" for soybeans corresponds to parity price for other agricultural commodities and is applied to agricultural commodities for which the production or consumption has changed materially since 1910-14.

The operational details for the 1948-crop soybeans price support program will be announced by the Department at a later date.

Mrs. W. G. Parker exhibited specimens of Scorabunda roses, goldlocks, Coralie and Magic Red; and hybrid tea roses, Crimson Glory and Mrs. Charles Bell.

Festivities Include Seafood Feast and Spectacular Parade

Beautiful Corky Crewley, Matheus model of New York and Dallas, will be crowned Queen of the National Seafood Festival in Hampton today by Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey, who will bestow on her the regency of "Queen Lorelei of Hampton," her title having been derived from the myths of the northern lands which tell of Lorelei as an enchantress of the sea who enticed fishermen into the deep by her alluring songs. Miss Crewley, who recently won the New York models' contest of "Miss International Beauty," will be crowned in a colorful ceremony this afternoon.

Climaxing the program will be a mammoth festival ball tonight in honor of the Queen and the princesses of her court. The ball, entitled "King Neptune's Night," will be held in an aircraft hanger of Langley Air Base, where upwards of 10,000 people are expected to dance to the music of Eddie Duchin and his nationally known dance band.

At noon, an outdoor combination crab feast, oyster roast and banquet of famous Virginia seafood dishes will be offered to the distinguished guests, newspaper, radio and newsreel representatives attending the celebration.

In the afternoon, a spectacular seafood parade will be led by King Neptune and his Queen, covering a course of several miles through the lower Peninsula. Approximately fifteen bands, drum and bugle corps, clown acts, magnificent floats decked with lovely girls, all under the supervision of Russell L. Van Lee, the "International Parade Master" of Atlanta, will pass in review before a stand where a delegation of notables headed by Governor Tuck will view the parade.

The program, which has been in preparation for about 6 months, involving an outlay of over $10,000.00, is being sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Hampton with community-wide support, and is expected to be the largest celebration ever staged on the Virginia Peninsula. Governor Tuck and a retinue of distinguished guests will be on hand to take part in this salute to the seafood industry of Virginia and the Nation.

Jaycees To Dine And Plan Club Projects Monday

Party Scheduled At Cavalier Yacht and Country Club

Virginia Beach Jaycees and their guests will assemble for dinner and a social gathering at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club Monday night.

The purpose of the occasion, according to President Owen Moore, is to stimulate interest in the organization and to plan for future projects.

One of the most recent projects of the Jaycees was the decoration of the town for the Shrine Convention. Mr. Moore said that cooperation of the merchants was almost 100 per cent and that it was reported that many of the Shrine leaders the decorations were the best they had seen in any city in which they had met.

Robert F. Nelson Resigns Position With State C. of C.

Accepts Position As Director of Virginia Promotion Council

Richmond—Robert F. Nelson, for twenty-four years public relations counsel of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, resigned his position on September 1 to become director of the Virginia Promotion Council.

The new council, organization of which is in progress, will be designed entirely to build trade for the State. It will be patterned closely after similar organizations in California, Maine, Michigan and other states. Mr. Nelson said today. Raymond B. Bottom, of Newport News, former president of the State Chamber and of the Virginia Press Association, is chairman of the organization committee.

The new organization recently received the commendation of William A. Wright, director of the Virginia Department of Conservation and Development, who termed the plan "sound as a dollar."

Nelson was loaned to various agencies during the War by the Chamber and organized the Virginia division of the Defense and War Savings Staff for the United States Treasury and served as public relations director of the Virginia War Fund from the time of its organization. He is a charter member of the National Association of Public Relations Council, public relations counsel of the Southern Association of Science and Industry and is credited with having originated much of Virginia's publicity to attract travel since 1924.

In accepting his resignation the executive committee of the State Chamber applauded his past efforts and expressed regret that he was leaving the Chamber, but stated that it did not desire to stand in the way of his advancement.

Mr. Nelson said today that the Promotion Council plans to supplement the work of the Virginia Conservation Commission, in close cooperation with that body through radio, direct-by-mail, poster and other forms of advertising not now being undertaken.

Richmond—Segregation of the races will continue in the public schools of Virginia, regardless of outside or Federal influences, Governor Tuck has assured the people of the State.

In a statement as schools opened, the Governor said "certain persons posing as leaders of the Negro race have shocked many people in Virginia by advocating and urging the violation of the Constitution of our Commonwealth on the part of public school officials."

"Segregation of the races in the public schools is called for in the fundamental law. It has been observed throughout the history of our Commonwealth and will continue to be observed."

His statement continued: "The white and Negro races have lived in harmony and mutual respect in Virginia longer than in any other part of the western hemisphere. We recognize that problems exist in connection with educational facilities for both races in Virginia. Marked progress already has been made toward their solution. An expanded program of public buildings at this time would only serve to complicate and make worse an already bad situation. Building costs are higher than they have ever been in history. Labor and material are scarce."

"Facilities are unequal in many instances. The localities will be encouraged to correct these inequalities as rapidly as practicable. The problem of adequate and equal school facilities is common to both races. There is no such thing as absolute equality in the schools. The last and newest school is almost always the best. They cannot all be constructed at the same time and according to the same pattern."

"Despite the unfortunate agitation of the racial issue by certain individuals who have assumed the role of leaders of the Negro race, I know that the people will recognize that the situation must be treated with utmost calmness and tolerance."

"The advocates of the so-called 'civil-rights' program sponsored by President Truman will not force upon the people of Virginia this curse of non-segregation in our schools, which would be offensive to the sensibilities of the better elements of the people of both races. Virginians have not been accustomed to the type of colored leadership recently displayed and which has come to the surface under prodding from Washington and other outside places. The hundreds of thousands of law abiding and peace-loving Negroes of Virginia deserve better guidance from their own race and are capable of and I hope will provide it. Their friends in all races will be glad to help them in every proper way."

"I sincerely trust that all parties concerned will recognize their responsibility as citizens. We must be tolerant and patient, both with our officials and with each other. The so-called Federal 'civil-rights' program, above referred to, calculated to stir up strife and misunderstanding is not the law of Virginia."

Teen-Agers Meeting Scheduled Saturday

There will be a meeting of all teen-agers Saturday, September 18, at 2:30 p.m. in the Community House. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers for the new year, and all persons interested are invited to attend.

IF THE SHOE FITS . . .

Virginia Beach has just employed approximately 7,000 publicity agents.

Each of the 5,000 Shriners and their wives and guests, who attended the joint meeting of the Southeastern and Mid-Atlantic Shrine Associations will carry reports to their friends and to other Shrine members in their home towns.

Virginia Beach derived some excellent publicity concerning the Convention before and during its progress. Although plans got off to a bad start and some of the Temples refused to pay the rates offered by some Beach hotel operators, the trouble was smoothed over, to some extent, when those rates were reduced and accommodations were offered on the European plan. They were told that, in most cases, double rooms only were available and expected to be quartered two to a room.

Upon arriving in Virginia Beach they were disgusted to learn that they had been assigned rooms containing two or more double beds and that four or more persons were expected to occupy one room. The rate for four persons was $24 per room. They further complained that the rooms were dirty, that they were not cleaned or the linens changed during the entire period of three days occupancy, and that many of the rooms contained no baths.

If this is true, we can expect no mercy from most of the estimated 7,000 persons attending the convention. Even though Joe Dokes occupied a reasonably decent room for two, he will report that his friend, John Doe, was quartered in a miserable room with four other persons and that hotel accommodations, generally, are very bad.

Most of those people have traveled. They know that a rate of $12 for two persons will provide excellent accommodations in most of the better hotels from New York to Florida. They expected the same accommodations in Virginia Beach. Can we expect them to make favorable reports about us, in view of what they found?

True, merchants, business firms, most of the hotels and most of the residents cooperated to the fullest extent, viewing the humorous pranks of the visitors with tolerant good humor and joining in the fun whenever possible. There was no complaint from the visitors concerning anything but the hotel accommodations. They spent money freely, but they expected fair values in the goods purchased. Most of the town's business enterprises benefitted.

Each of those visitors might have been an ambassador of good will for Virginia Beach. It would be impossible to estimate the value we might have derived in future trade. But what will happen if those people report that Virginia Beach is over-rated, that it is a dinky little town with a reasonably good beach and a few amusement places, but that the hotel operators are cut-throats, accommodations poor and the charges outrageous?

We can expect at least one Shriner to make just such a report. He was overheard remarking that, had some of them been arrested and put in jail, they probably would have had better accommodations than those provided in his hotel. We hope that was not a general opinion.

What is the value of advertising campaigns if merchants, hotel operators and business firms continue to ignore the fact that one dissatisfied customer will do more harm than 10 satisfied ones can overcome in spreading good will?

Why don't the legitimate operators band together to overcome the damage done by their less conscientious competitors by excluding them from the Chamber of Commerce, the Better Business Association, and the Hotel Association? Why should legitimate operators pay for advertising campaigns, only to have the benefits dissipated by the unscrupulous practices of a few?

Let's remember that it pays to advertise, but it's hell for everybody when you can't deliver the goods!

WE COMMEND A NEW ORGANIZATION

Approximately one month ago, 32 volunteers of the Seateack Volunteer Fire Department began a campaign to raise $2500 to purchase a fire truck.

The volunteers already had initiated a six-weeks training course, under the direction of Clay Easterly, State fire-fighting and fire prevention instructor. The course now has been completed and 32 certificates have been awarded.

Meeting each Monday night, the volunteers present their pledges, contributions and whatever funds have been collected from other sources during the week. To date, approximately $735 has been collected.

We think the colored people of the Seateack section have done a splendid job toward community betterment and progress. There is no color distinction, as white and colored families in the area will receive the same service in the event of a fire. In addition to the fire-fighting services of the group, the entire community probably will benefit from reduced insurance premiums when the department has reached the required strength and possesses the required equipment.

Let us hope that all who recognize the public spirit of the Seateack group will help to relieve their burden of expense by contributing as much as possible toward the purchase of their fire equipment. Contributions may be mailed to the treasurer of the Seateack Volunteer Fire Department, H. L. Robinson, Seateack, Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Over $31,200 in premiums are offered by the Atlantic Rural Exposition for the third annual exposition in Richmond, October 4-8.

Night accidents are responsible for almost two-thirds of traffic fatalities in cities, the National Safety Council says.

Maisons Laiffite—French family is not so different from that at home.

Madame leaves the Berlin situation and the other international problems to the politicians. Like an American housewife, she is concerned first with the cost of living, the family food and clothing, getting the children away for summer holidays and the daily chores of marketing and cleaning, as well as caring for two American guests.

We feel so fortunate to be a part of the household for a month. All the usual tourist scenes in Paris must be seen, but here at Maisons Laiffite we find the common touch of home that surmounts language and customs barriers.

The town, a rather fashionable Paris suburb of some 13,000 people, dates from Roman days, taking the name from "Mansio" and "Laiffite," one of the owners of the chateau. An early monastery, burned during the 100 years' war, was replaced by a church where last Sunday the priest as of old exhorted his flock in tones even visitors could not mistake.

The first seigneur of the maisons was one Jean Loreve, who died in 761. The chateau was built by Francois Mansart in 1642, and Louis XIV and Valtaire were among the famous who slept here, according to the French version of a local chamber of commerce guide. When Jacques Laiffite acquired the chateau much later, Lafayette was among the prominent visitors.

Today it is a gray, imposing building, publicly owned and a center of community life. It has survived revolutions, bombardment, occupation, wars and rumors of wars, and will withstand, we trust, the blare of American fire recordings which burst forth from restaurants every Saturday and Sunday nights.

Next to the chateau in point of interest to us is the market. Madame buys every day and therefore has no need for a refrigerator. All food carefully is covered so there is not need for window screens either. It is all in the point of view.

The market is the equivalent of a Woolworth city block of complete confusion. Last Saturday morning there must have been well over 200 stalls offering everything from cabbage to shirts, and the tatters' bazaar of French surpassed anything we ever had heard.

They say anything can be purchased in France—for a price—but the legal rations are grim by our standards. Depending upon current supplies, one person gets per month 1 pound of fat, 1½ pounds of sugar, ¼ pound of coffee and ½ box of cheese. Only the children are granted milk, chocolate, jam, rice and flour, and then in small quantities. Unrationed, but expensive, are: eggs, about 6c each; steak, about $1.00 a pound; green beans, about 20c per pound; tomatoes, about 17c per pound.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—The enormous demand that still exists in this country for durable goods is dramatized in a report by the National Automobile Dealers Association estimating the current backlog of orders for new cars at 7,300,000 units.

This does not take into account the very considerable market for used cars, nor the fact that auto-dame's garden has vegetable plots, a rabbit hutch, some chickens and ducks. Unfortunately, weather has been against small vegetable growth. Today the thermometer soared to 84 degrees, and it has been the coldest summer, according to the papers, since 1919. We can agree.

There is no heat in the houses, either. A winter coal allocation of 750 pounds (because the family has 3 children) does not permit fires no matter how cold the days in July. Fugality, born from the desperate need to save, is perhaps the greatest difference between this French household and the ones at home. Every small scrap—wood, paper, textile, left over food—here serves some useful purpose. Nothing is wasted.

Madame told us she has not had a new garment for herself in over 12 years. A coat is worn, turned, dyed, worn again, re-made and finally given to some poor family, which saw even worse days during the occupation.

In spite of adversity and struggles when the son was five and one-half years a war prisoner, this family is cheerful, gay and every ready to look for the pleasant side of life.

They are the most polite people in the world. Nothing is too much trouble to do for the American guests, and one dare not think a wish, much less give expression to it. Otherwise, the entire neighborhood lends a hand to the accomplishment.

There is no point to our trying to buy an alarm stamp or train ticket for ourselves, because they become community projects in short order anyway. In view of our painfully spoken college French, it is as well.

Madame's ducks, however, seem to "quack" so graciously whether she speaks to them in French or we converse in English. All else is a mixture of halting words and sign language, but it is remarkable what that can accomplish among friends.

Slow down at sundown. The National Safety Council says pedestrian deaths are most frequent in the first three hours after sunset. Don't let the end of the day mean the end of a life!

Mrs. Dawson, to find out where the next Ladies Aid Meeting was to be held.

Her mother, by Long Distance, to wish her well on her seventieth birthday.

Dr. Sellen, to make an appointment to see him, for a routine check-up.

... and these people called her:

Mrs. Pullen, a friend, to invite the Gray family to a picnic.

Her daughter, age twelve, to ask permission to have lunch with a friend.

Her son, by Long Distance, to say he was shooting home on his furlough.

Her husband, to say he was bringing home a business friend for the evening.

Mrs. Walter, a friend, to ask about a new recipe and to chat.

Mr. Wall, the carpenter, to ask if it would be O.K. to begin repairs next week.

THE AMERICAN WAY

WHOSE RED HERRING?

By DEWITT EMERY

(Editor's Note: DeWitt Emery is president of the National Small Business Men's Association.)

An attempt is being made to get the American people to believe that the investigations being made by the Un-American Activities Committee into communists on the payroll of our Federal Government was started as a partisan activity to provide Republican fodder for the Presidential and Congressional campaigns now under way. This is far from the truth and in the interest of keeping the record straight, let's look at the facts.

The investigations into the "Red menace" were started more than ten years ago by the original Un-American Activities Committee of which Rep. Martin Dies, a Texas Democrat, was chairman. As far back as 1940 the National Small Business Men's Association, in an issue of its bulletin to members, published a list of more than 500 communists, or fellow travelers, who were then on the payroll of the Federal Government. This list showed the name and address of the individual, the department in which he or she was employed and the amount of the annual salary of everyone on the list.

Originally the Dies Committee was a special committee and did not have certain rights and powers which a regular standing committee has. This was changed at the first session of the 79th Congress. The House in this Congress had 242 Democrats and 190 Republicans. On January 3, 1945, Rep. John E. Rankin, Democrat from Mississippi, offered a resolution to give the Un-American Activities Committee the status of a regular standing House committee. The vote on this resolution was 208 for and 186 against. Mr. Rankin is still in the forefront of the fight to expose the Reds.

The Dies Committee operated on a non-partisan basis and the same thing was true of the present Un-American Activities Committee until President Truman denounced the espionage investigations of this Committee as a "Red Herring" which automatically injected these investigations and government, or fellow travelers, at the Committee hearings. The logical conclusion is that Mr. Truman is in favor of the spy ring and wants subversive persons on the payroll of the Government. But that definitely is not true, and since it isn't, the only other conclusion possible is that he is doing what he believes will help him most in his campaign for re-election.

It certainly is a sad commentary on our ability to govern ourselves when a high public official has reason to believe that he can get more voters to support him by going along—temporarily at least—with a movement designed to overthrow our republican form of government.

Are teen-age drivers as reckless as older folks say they are? The National Safety Council says "yes." Special studies indicate that the fatal accident rate in terms of miles driven by youngsters under 20 may be 89 per cent higher than the average rate for all drivers.

N&W Wins Gold Safety Medal For Fourth Time

For the fourth time the Norfolk and Western Railway has won the Edward H. Harriman Memorial Gold Medal for the outstanding safety record among the nation's large Class I railroads.

The medal, which was presented to the railroad for its 1947 record, also was won by the N. & W. in 1928, 1938, and 1940. It is awarded annually by the American Museum of Safety.

In addition to making the best safety record among the larger railroads last year, the official figures reveal that during the ten-year period, 1938-1947, the Norfolk and Western carried 29,810,817 passengers a total of 4,167,112,620 passenger miles without a single fatality to a passenger in a train accident.

The N. & W. employee safety record also has been outstanding, according to the figures. During the ten-year period the employee casualty rate, which includes all reportable injuries, was 4.25 per million man-hours worked, which was 69 per cent better than the national average.

The presentation of the medal was made at a reception and dinner at the Ambassador Hotel in New York on the evening of September 15th, which was attended by prominent railroad and business executives. It will be received by R. H. Smith, N. & W. president, on behalf of the railroad and its 23,000 employees. He will be accompanied by C. H. Tabor, vice president and general manager, and D. W. Naff, superintendent of safety of the N. & W.

The medal was established in 1913 by Mrs. Mary W. Harriman in memory of her husband, E. H. Harriman, railroad pioneer.

The Highest Award in Railroad Safety

FOR THE FOURTH TIME

The Norfolk and Western Railway this week was awarded the coveted Harriman Memorial Gold Medal for making the outstanding safety record among the large Class I railroads of the United States in 1947.

The N. & W. and its 23,000 employees are sincerely proud of this high honor. They are doubly proud of their record of progress in safety and accident prevention, because it has made this a safer railroad on which to work, a safer railroad on which to travel, and a safer railroad on which to ship.

Winning the Harriman Medal in 1947 — in 1940 — in 1928 — and in 1926 — did not "just happen" to the N. & W. These safety achievements are the results of many years of practical, intensive safety education, the employees' belief in and practice of safety, and their cooperation with one another and with the management, plus sound operating methods and the investment of millions of dollars in a consistent program of modernization for a safer transportation plant.

To the Norfolk and Western and its employees, safety is the first law of good railroading. Therefore, winning the highest award in railroad safety is another stepping stone for members of the Norfolk and Western Family to greater progress in safety — an inspiration to work harder to make this a better and safer railroad for its employees and the public they serve.

During the ten years, 1938-1947, inclusive, the N. & W. carried 29,810,817 passengers a total of 4,167,112,620 passenger miles without a single fatality to a passenger in a train accident. In employee safety, during the same period, the casualty rate was 4.25 per million man-hours worked, which was 69% below the national average. Since 1912, progress in accident prevention on the N. & W. has resulted in saving 1,199 employees' lives and the prevention of 47,266 employee injuries.

CONCRETE FARM BUILDINGS

With need for every pound of food produced, the nation cannot afford the loss of millions of dollars in food, chicks and eggs destroyed each year by rats.

Rats can be controlled—with the aid of concrete. Ratproof and sanitary, fireproof and sturdy... concrete is particularly well suited for granaries, poultry and hog houses, barn and feeding floors, milk houses and cooling tanks, manure pits and other structures needed for increased food production.

There is no shortage of concrete materials for farm construction, repairs and improvements.

Concrete farm buildings are moderate in first cost. They offer sanitation, fireproof and life-time service at low annual cost.

If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor or your building material dealer. Write for free booklet, "Ratproofing Old Farm Buildings with Concrete."

Barr-White Wedding Vows Spoken Sat. Afternoon in Richmond Church

The marriage of Miss Ives Eliza, both White, of Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ray White, of LaCrosse, to Dr. William Clayton Barr, of Chicago and Virginia Beach, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gail Barr, of Virginia Beach, took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Monument Methodist Church, Richmond, with the Rev. Dr. A. P. Williams, pastor of the church, officiating. Volney Shepard played the wedding music, and accompanied Paul George, who sang

"Because" and "At Dawning." Given in marriage by her brother, Otis Ray White, Jr., the bride wore a wedding gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with portrait neckline outlined with seed pearls and Chantilly lace, long trail sleeves ending in points over the hands, fitted bodice and a full skirt terminating in a long circular train. Her full-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a Queen Anne bouquet of white orchids and gardenias. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridesroom, Mrs. David Lawrence McArthur, of Staunton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of American Beauty taffeta, made with an off-the-shoulder neckline formed by a bertha, fitted bodice and a full skirt with a butterfly bustle. She carried a Queen Anne bouquet of white Autumn flowers. In her hair she wore a matching halo. The bridesmaids were Miss Winifred Earl White, of Richmond, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Lonnie Omnium Clark, Jr., of Virginia Beach. They wore dresses similar to that of the matron of honor and carried similar flowers. Randall McArthur, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Robert Gail Barr, Jr., was his brother's best man. The ushers were Randall White, of Blacksburg, brother of the bride; Dr. Donald Faulkner, of Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Lonnie G. Clark, of Virginia Beach, and Sidney Morecock, of Roanoke.

The bride's mother wore a plum colored dress with matching hat and a corsage of purple orchids. The mother of the bridesroom wore a Continental green dress with matching hat and a corsage of bronze orchids.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the John Marshall Hotel. Later, Dr. and Mrs. Barr left for a Northern wedding trip. Upon their return, they will reside in Chicago, where Dr. Barr is on the staff of the Department of Radiology at Cook County Hospital. The bride traveled in a forest green Venetian gabardine suit with matching hat, fawn colored accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ball, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. Louis Guy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Forbes, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Dormire, Mrs. R. G. Barr, Jr., Mrs. Garrett Smith and Mrs. Marvin Woolf, of Virginia Beach.

Accidents Kill More Youths Than Heart Disease or Pneumonia

Accidents are the greatest killer of young people in the United States, far outranking any of the more generally feared childhood diseases.

According to the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, accidents claimed five times as many lives in the 5-to-14 year age group in 1946 as heart disease, the second cause of death. And accidents killed six times as many children in that age group as pneumonia, the third place child-killer.

In fact, the yearbook points out that deaths from accidents numbered more than deaths from both heart disease and pneumonia combined.

The biggest military review since World War II will take place in Richmond on October 8 as a part of the Atlantic Rural Exposition. It will be one of the highlights of "All States Day" at the fair.

CHARLOTTE COHN MARRIED TO BENSON DAVIS

The marriage of Miss Charlotte Cohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herrman Cohn, of Princess Anne, Md., and Virginia Beach, to Otis Benson Davis, son of Rear Admiral Ralph Otis Davis, USN, and Mrs. Davis, of Norfolk, took place Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Manokin Presbyterian Church, Princess Anne, Md. The Rev. Alvin Duane Smith officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown which was worn by her grandmother and her mother on their wedding days. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of cream colored taffeta veiled in tulle and a skirt made with three founces of Valenciennes lace over taffeta. The long sleeves were made of Valenciennes lace to the elbow and shirred tulle to the wrist, caught with pearls. Her square lace veil was worn by her maternal great-grandmother at her wedding in 1842. She carried a round bouquet of stepanotis and lily of the valley surrounded with lace and tulle and tied with ivory taffeta streamers caught with stepanotis. The bride's only ornament was a string of Ceylon pearls with an heirloom pearl and diamond pendant.

Miss Harriet Gale Wilcox, of Norfolk, who was maid of honor, wore a hunters green bengaline dress, made with a fitted bodice, wide V-shaped neckline and draped skirt pulled up at the side with a large bow. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Wainwright, of Baltimore, and Miss Sabine Alston Goodman, of Jacksonville, Fla. They wore lime green bengaline dresses, made like that of the maid of honor. All attendants wore ivy bandeaux and a cameo pin on a black velvet ribbon, a gift of the bride, and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and trailing ivy leaves.

Franklin Sommes Tyng, of Charlottesville, was best man. The ushers were John M. Hanford, of New York City; John D. Boice, of Plainfield, N. J.; Henry S. Berl, of Rehoboth, Del., and J. William Fewell, of Philadelphia.

The mother of the bride wore a blond lace gown over pink taffeta, a matching hat of tulle and ostrich feathers and a corsage of pink roses. The bridesroom's mother wore an amethyst colored taffeta dress trimmed with mauve tulle, a cloche of mauve and amethyst taffeta and a corsage of amethyst orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Later Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for a Northern wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Baltimore. The bride traveled in a green crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

The smell of burning leaves is one of the pleasures of autumn. But the National Safety Council points out that where there's smoke, there's fire—and that means keeping children away from leaf bonfires. Burns are the second leading cause of child deaths.

Navy Seeking 2,000 Air Cadets; Office Set Up At Norfolk NAS

Lieut. H. H. Dawson, USN, advanced flight instructor from the Naval Air Training Command, Corpus Christi, Texas, has set up temporary offices at the Norfolk Naval Air Station, Hanger LP-12, to interview Virginia men interested in becoming commissioned pilots in the U. S. Navy or Marine Corps.

Men 18 to 25 years of age with two years' college background able to pass high standards of mental and physical fitness will be admitted to the "Annapolis of the Air," Pensacola, Fla., for naval aviation flight training as "NavCads" under the recently inaugurated peacetime Naval Aviation Cadet Procurement program.

In addition to $75 cash per month, NavCads will receive their meals, lodging, medical and dental care, complete uniforms, and a free $10,000 government life insurance policy while in training.

Upon completion of the aviation training, NavCads will be commissioned Ensign, USNR, or 2nd Lieutenant, USMC, and will then receive $291 cash per month if unmarried, $372 per month if married.

Flight training in the cadet program takes about 15 intensive months which, added to processing and indoctrination periods, changes of station, and leave periods, totals about 18 months.

Pilots receiving commissions under this program will have opportunity to fly the latest type jet aircraft, bombers as the "Truculent Turtle," holder of the world's non-stop long distance record in its flight from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, Ohio.

Interested personnel who desire a personal interview in their own home town should write full details of name, age, address and telephone, if available, in a letter addressed: Naval Cadet Procurement Officer, NARTU, NAS, Norfolk 11, Va. Such letters will be immediately forwarded to Lieut. Dawson for immediate contact.

County Road Mileage Increased Greatly Since Year 1932

Records dating back to 1932, when the secondary road system was first turned over to the State Highway Department, show that Princess Anne had some 238 miles of secondary highway, of which 38 miles were hard surfaced, 35 miles surfaced, 153 miles graded or conditioned, and 11 miles unimproved.

It is interesting to compare 1932 figures with those of today as released this week by the highway department.

As the past fiscal year ended on June 30, secondary mileage in the county stood at 288 miles, of which 244 miles were hard surfaced, 42 miles were surfaced, and two miles were conditioned or unimproved.

Much of the improvement has been carried out in the years since the war, as general assemblymen and the highway commission recognized the growing importance of farm-to-market, school bus, and RFD routes.

As hard-surfaced mileage grows, however, so do maintenance costs. Maintenance on soil or gravel roads averages around $250 per mile yearly. But the cost nearly doubles after a bituminous surface has been applied. This, of course, eats into the funds available for new construction.

Despite the tremendous improvements, highway officials point out that the "job has only begun." A staggering volume of work lies ahead before the secondary system is up to desired standards. Funds are limited by ever-increasing costs.

Student Vets Advised To Take Tide-Over Cash To College

Pointing out that most student-veterans won't get their first subsistence checks for the fall term until November, the Veterans Administration suggested today that G. I. collegians take along enough money to tide them over for a couple of months.

VA said veterans who complete their school registration after September 20 will receive their September and October subsistence allowances in one check early in November. The next checks will be delivered on or about December 1.

AMERICAN LEGION HELPS

That American Legion publicity was helpful is seen in the VA report that more than 1,900,000 veterans reinstated nearly $12,000,000,000 of insured National Service Life Insurance in the 13-month period before the July 31, 1948, deadline on easy reinstatements.

ber 1 to cover November allowances, and payments will be made monthly thereafter during the remainder of the school year.

Some few student-veterans who complete their registration before September 20 may receive subsistence checks for that month in October, VA explained.

Elaborate Dance Revue To Be Staged At Richmond Atlantic Rural Exposition

Richmond—Grandstand Folks, a jubilant major production of George A. Hamid, of New York, will be featured daily before the grandstand at the Atlantic Rural Exposition here October 4-9. The gleeful presentation, featuring novelty chorus numbers, clever supplementary acts, catchy music and elaborate settings, costumes and lighting effects, is the largest and most ambitious of a long line of Hamid revue successes.

A line of 30 trained dancers, who have been chosen for their slight appeal as well as their dancing ability, will tally trip thousands of steps in the presentation of their five numbers.

A novelty bell number, utilizing the musical genius of the Swiss bell ringers, is believed completely different from any outdoor show fare presented anywhere in the past. Another unusual number, the Stair dance, has the dancing lovelies emulating the great dancer, Bill Robinson, who is credited with having originated the routine which featured dancing up and down a flight of stairs. The girls go the great Robinson one better in that they perform the difficult routine in unison. The movements of their 40 dancing feet are perfectly synchronized to create a breath-taking spectacle.

The catchy music of the Scottish highlanders is used in the original Scotch number. Flaid and heather are prominently highlighted in the fetching costumes of the chorus girls turned lassies. With only a short interlude the chorus returns attired in brilliant kaleidoscopic Spanish shawls to present one of the loveliest routines in the show. The cañonets pacing the staccato tempo of Spanish music add up to an almost unbelievable whirlwind of action.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Farming" Versus "Ranching"

Talked to some editors who run my column in their papers—in states where there's mostly cattle and sheep raising—about the differences there might be between farming and ranching.

And they told me: "Joe, there's no real difference between cattlemen and farmers. We make our living from the land like your folks do; we have the same 4-H Clubs and Granges; the same problems of prices and marketing.

"When it comes to recreation, we have the same liking to get together now and then for a barbecue and a friendly glass of beer."

And from where I sit, that about sums it up. Ranchers may have different names for things or grow different crops. But all over America folks who work the land share those common traits of hard work, sober moderation, and good fellowship, whether they're growing cattle for beef, or barley for good American beer and ale.

Robertson, Hardy Speak at Court House on Tuesday

Both Call for Unity in Dealing With World Problems

Farm prosperity bears a definite relationship to the national economy and farm prices in some cases are coming dangerously near to support levels, Senator A. Willis Robertson told members of the Princess Anne Democratic Committee meeting Tuesday in the Court House.

The Senator, making a campaign tour of the State with his running mate, Representative Porter Hardy, said that both had supported the continuation of parity levels and price support in the belief that a recession of major proportions would follow discontinuation of the program.

He pointed out that a personal investigation had disclosed that one of the largest manufacturers of textile goods in the State had caught up on orders for cotton piece goods and was becoming overstocked, and that another Virginia manufacturer of hosiery had reported a similar condition.

Senator Robertson noted that, in 1920, 80 per cent of the population of the country resided on farms and supplied 20 per cent of the population, living in the city, with food and produce. The situation is reversed today, he said, with 20 per cent of the population now residing on farms, supplying the remaining 80 per cent living in cities, in addition to the needs and demands made by other countries.

Speaking of foreign developments, the Senator admitted that the Marshall plan had not been altogether successful and pointed out that Europe is a power which on which we must keep a watchful eye. If we give up Berlin, he said, we will sacrifice hundreds of thousands of Germans opposed to Communism. He said that the European nations now being threatened by Communistic aggression possess shipbuilding facilities far in excess of those in this country, which produces only about five per cent of the ships built for the world's fleet.

Both candidates for re-election spoke of the need for a unified front in dealing with world problems.

Visitors to the meeting, who were recognized by Chairman William F. Hudgins, included Mayor C. Davis, of South Norfolk, and Hugh Johnson, commissioner of the revenue of Norfolk County. State Senator Edward L. Breedon, Jr., of Norfolk, Senator Robertson's district campaign manager, also was present, as were approximately 200 Princess Anne County residents.

Cavaliers Meet Deep Creek Today On Oceana Grid

The Cavaliers of Oceana High School will entertain the football team of Deep Creek High School on the Oceana gridiron today at 3 p.m. This will be a conference game in which the Group II teams will be trying for a win in this division.

Last week the Oceana team lost to the Norview team by a score of 26-0. Although considerably out-weighted, the Oceana squad put up a good fight.

As a result of the tough game last week members of Coach Tomko's team are suffering from injuries and some of the key men will not be able to play in today's game. Dallas Voliva, one of the starting backs, will be out with a back injury, and Fred Yates, one of the linemen will transfer to Nevada and, of course, will not be with the crowd any longer.

Coach Tomko is expected to start the following men: ends, Jones and Everett; tackles, Voliva and Meads; guards, Capps and Gilbert; backs, Sawyer, Rice, Carson and Midgette.

In addition to the above, linemen who are in service are: Neal, Wright, Scarborough, G. Long, G. Johnson, Boyd Midgette and Bobby Gardner, and backs, Wilson, Johnson, Bowden, Ayldette and Voliva.

Teen-Agers Plan "Back To School" Dance October 2

The Youth Activity Committee of the Community House has agreed on a "Back to School" dance October 2 at 8:30 p.m. in the Community House. In a "salute" to Kempville school, the students of Kempville have been invited to attend.

The newly elected officers of the Teen-Age Club met with the Youth Activity Committee Tuesday at the Community House. This was the first meeting of the new teen-age officers to outline a program of coming events. Those attending were Bob Hagwood, president; K. Z. Bowden, vice president; Bruce Jones, treasurer; Alice Wade, secretary, representing the Teen-Age Committee, and Mrs. Sam Fote, Mrs. Walter Walcott, Mrs. Wallace Clark, Mrs. Martin McCarthy, B. M. Stanton and S. L. Pidgeon, of the Youth Activity Committee.

In an effort to have designed the most appropriate letterhead stationery for the teen-agers, a contest was devised and a member of the Youth Activity Committee offered a prize of $10.00 to the teen-ager who submits the best design. All teen-agers are urged to compete. The rules are: 1. Design must be in black ink on white paper of 8 1/2 inches by 11 inches in size; 2. All entries must be turned in at the Community House by October 1; 3. The winner will be announced at the "Back to School" dance October 2.

Bumper Corn Crop In Princess Anne Predicted by Lane

Based on department of agriculture forecasts of a bumper grain crop, feed supplies for 1948-49 will probably be the largest on record in relation to the number of livestock to be fed. R. W. Lane, chairman of the Princess Anne County Agricultural Conservation Association, stated that information reaching his office places a current estimate on the nation's 1948 corn production at 3 1/2 billion bushels (nearly 44 million bushels in Virginia). Such a crop would be the largest ever produced and comes at a time when livestock numbers are the smallest in ten years. Oats and grain sorghums are near record and barley above average.

While the hay crop and carry-over will provide ample supplies per animal unit, some areas may have to supplement the supply with other roughage and silage.

The record feed supply per animal will encourage more liberal feeding and increased production of livestock products. About the same number of livestock will be fed in 1948-49 as in 1947-48. Cattle and work stock numbers are expected to continue downward, at least through 1948. Production of hogs and poultry, however, probably will expand during 1948-49 and more cattle will be grain-fattened than during the current feeding year.

Traffic Takers Count All Time High In August

Traffic on Virginia's primary highways climbed to an all-time high during the month of August when some 450,000,000 vehicle miles were clocked by the State Highway Department's traffic takers.

All types of traffic was up 11.09 per cent over August of 1947 and 23.32 per cent over the prewar high of August 1941.

Tourist traffic showed a marked jump of 23.91 per cent over 1947, but was up only 4.60 per cent over 1941.

Each highway district showed increases over 1947. Salem district was up 20.40 per cent, Bristol 17.21 per cent, Staunton 16.81 per cent, Suffolk 10.97, Lynchburg 10.75, Fredericksburg 8.55, Richmond 6.99, and Culpeper 2.46.

6th District Club President Hits Communist Front

Mrs. Walter J. Wilkins, president of the Sixth District of Junior Woman's Clubs, told members of the Princess Anne County Junior Woman's Club Tuesday night that Communism, theoretically, is a Godless creed and that the party should be forced by law to reveal its membership, funds and activities.

Urges Education To Offset Foreign Anti-Democratic Theories

In an appeal for women to become interested, informed voters, Mrs. Wilkins pointed out that Communism may retard progress in this country, pointed to the fact that its major attack is the fifth column technique, and said that the importance of education cannot be stressed too strongly in an effort to combat Communistic ideology. The topic of her address was, "The American Heritage of Citizenship."

Mrs. J. Goodenow Tyler, Jr., citizenship chairman, presented Miss Jacqueline Kellam, who was sponsored by the Princess Anne Junior Club to attend Girls' State in Radford College during the Summer. Miss Kellam gave an account of her activities, describing the procedures of holding courts, elections and general functions of government. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kellam, of Princess Anne Court House.

Mrs. Owen J. Moore was elected to attend the Sixth District meeting in Cape Charles October 5, together with Mrs. W. F. Kellam, president. Mrs. W. A. Smith was named as an alternate.

The club voted to purchase a Michigan Vision Testing machine and an Audiometer to be used in the schools of the county to test the hearing and vision of each child.

Atlantic Rural Exposition Gets Set For Biggest Year

Richmond-Workmen are busy making additions to the big stage in front of the grandstand at the Atlantic Rural Exposition. More space is needed for the scores of sensational acts that will take place daily during the week of October 4 when the Great Atlantic States Fair will reign in Richmond. Never before have so many top top acts been crowded into a single program. R. M. Hazelwood, general manager said today.

Farm Acreage Report Soon Due, Ozlin Says

About October 1, one farmer out of fifteen in Princess Anne County will receive a card from his rural mail carrier on which he is requested to report the acreage of the various crops to be harvested on his farm this season. This information will be used by the Department of Agriculture to estimate the total acreage harvested in the State.

This is not a new report, because many of our farmers have been filling out the cards during the past 25 years. There never was a time, however, when interest in the crop reports was greater than at the present time. The trend shown in the acreage of various crops in different parts of the country is of great interest to farmers, to agricultural workers and to officials of the Federal and State Government.

If a representative sample of the farms in Princess Anne County can be obtained, reliable estimates can be made showing the number of acres of the major crops harvested in the county.

H. W. Ozlin, county agent, requests that every farmer in Princess Anne County take a few minutes to fill it out and then promptly return it to his rural mail carrier. No postage is required.

Perfect timing, speed and excitement all make this act one of the outstanding in the show world today. Astor is a handsome young man, with a pleasing personality and plenty of talent.

Other features include: The Three Barretts, who do amazing feats of skill on a 100-foot swaying pole; the 20-girl chorus of the Grandstand Follies of 1948; Sharkey the Seal; the Three Cantons, three Chinese acrobats that tie themselves into knots. The night performances are concluded with the most spectacular display of fireworks seen in years.

The mile long midway of Cettin & Wilson will feature 24 rides and 18 shows. A full trainload of fun and entertainment. Added will be thrill shows and racing events.

'ROUND AND 'ROUND SHE GOES... AND WHERE SHE STOPS, NOBODY KNOWS...

The big story going the rounds these days is that there were about 30 little men who weren't there putting money on a table in a big, bare room without a stick of furniture in it and they were exchanging stacks of money for the fun of it when some big, bold bandits barged in and took about $50,000 (or was it $2,000 or $100,000?) and all the perfectly innocent little stage men home like mad before the police arrived to give chase to the bandits without seeing any of the little men who weren't there and the Commonwealth's Attorney later admitted he doesn't know anything about gambling, either in Virginia Beach or its environs.

The above paragraph would tax the credulity of a seven-year-old child, and would insult the intelligence of a high school sophomore. Yet it is the kind of hash the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County have learned to expect whenever there is the faintest suggestion that illegal operations exist.

Apparently, the Commonwealth's Attorney is not alone in his limited knowledge of gambling. It isn't too difficult to assume that some of our County and Town officials, both new and old, who sometimes are guests of some of the most exclusive clubs, know so little about gambling that they wouldn't recognize a die if it were multiplied by two and rolled under their noses. Perhaps that is one of the required qualifications for eligibility.

Could it be that Fortune, licensed in a weak moment by the Town Fathers, is an innocent little game, subject to a terrific tax and operated without profit by concessionaires for the amusement of players who part with money willingly without the first thought of receiving a return? Could it be that Bingo is just a harmless game of skill in which one's ability to place a grain of corn on a designated number on a card is regarded as a master feat, for which the innocent contender is willing to spend time and money in practice?

Could it be that the rattle of bones and the click of the wheel is just a cleverly inserted part of the background music, lending a note of Bohemian authenticity to club room and bar?

Up to a point, the game of "hush mah mouth and shut mah eyes" can be tolerated with contemptuous amusement. But when it serves as a cloak under which organized mobsters can operate with impunity, continued professions of ignorance reach the stage of crass stupidity and can be viewed only with contempt, minus amusement.

MILLS OF THE GODS

The people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach cannot overlook the possible consequences of the recent Piney Point robbery.

Descriptions of the affair indicate that the robbery was executed with the greatest of ease and without resistance. Furthermore, police say that it would be difficult to obtain convictions even if the robbers were apprehended, because the "victims" could not be persuaded to testify.

If this is true, the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County can expect to be exposed to an organized crime wave of major proportions. "Fifty grand" is not a small haul for one night's operation, even for the most notorious outlaw gangs. And when word gets around that picking off fifty grand is like taking candy from a baby, we can expect an influx of hoodlums of all types and classes.

Who is to blame?

The experience of other cities and counties that have become notorious hangouts of thieves and outlaws indicates that whenever the populace closes its eyes to vice, gambling and petty racketeering in order to benefit from easy money brought by the trade, professional outlaws and thieves move in, with resulting destruction of life and property. Kansas City, Chicago, Harlem County, Las Vegas, and other towns and cities too numerous to mention have experienced similar results and consequent notoriety.

In many instances, "boss" racketeers and gamblers were found to have been working with the blessing of corrupt officials who were willing to close their eyes in return for a "cut" in the rackets. And it was the populace that voted those officials into power and retained them in office!

Quoting from an article by Roger William Rils, reprinted in the Virginia Beach News of August 23, 1946, by special permission of Coronet Magazine, "If we want our towns and cities dominated by gangsters, racketeers, confidence men, commercialized prostitution and rotten politics, then we should legalize gambling. . . . Corruption, crookedness and gambling go hand in hand, and never yet has it been possible to separate them. . . . Big-time gambling is unique in being wholly parasitic. It produces no new wealth, performs no useful service. It walks hand in hand with gangsterism, theft and murder. . . ."

Commenting on Rils' article, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick wrote, "The popular idea that gambling is good sport is nonsense. It is deliberate crookedness, and when sanctioned by law would be a debauching influence of disastrous proportions. . . ."

What of the "prominent" and "successful" business men who came to Princess Anne County to indulge in a nefarious pastime in violation of the laws of the State and who then, v out the moral courage to face the consequences, sneaked back to their homes in nearby cities to grovel in the fear of being exposed, thereby granting complete immunity to a range of organized robbers and exposing the County to an open season of similar occurrences? Shall they go blameless?

What of the Princess Anne County police department, to whom the first report of the robbery was directed and "urged" upon accepted? Can they be held blameless for failing to . . . alish evidence of the crime by posting officers at the scene and impounding . . . tnesses while directing the pursuit of t . e criminals in a coordinated effort? Is this another faux pas showing evidence of ignorance of police procedure on the part of the County force, or shall we blame the County officials for failing to supply an adequate police staff of properly trained and qualified men?

These are questions we must face squarely. Unless we demand . . . and get . . . adequate police protection, adequate law enforcement in all phases, and the support of all public officials toward that end, we can look for an era of lawlessness and degradation in which the scum of the Nation will overrun our so-called "Paradise by the Sea."

Dailey Does 'Em

by Daphne Dailey, Special Correspondent, VPA News Service
(Editor's Note: The following is a correspondence from Daphne Dailey, Special Correspondent of the Virginia Press Assn. News Service, who is making a tour of England, Scotland, France, and other places of interest this Summer. The following is from France.)

Paris—This must be the peak of the summer tourist rush. Some hotels and sections of the city are more American than New York, and each arriving ship and plane brings fresh waves in the continuing invasion.

Fashion experts and buyers swarm in the Place Vendôme trying to determine next fall's new "new-look" while strings of sight-seeing visitors gaze at the old in the museum of the Louvre.

It is more the rule than exception to hear English these days, particularly in that part of the city, roughly a triangle, from Place de la Concorde (American Embassy stands on one corner) along rue de Rivoli to the avenue de l'Opera, the Place de la Madeleine and down rue Royale. Around the Arc d'Triomphe there seems a sea of American faces and cameras.

If other signs fail, this certainly would mean tourists are here in numbers. This morning I asked for a passable French brand of Virginia tobacco cigarettes. (There are two kinds of tobacco overseas—Virginia and Turkish.) The reply was, "No, I'm sorry, we don't have any. Would you care for some American cigarettes?"

As many of the French population as can get away are on their own holidays, but hotels, restaurants, shops, tour booking offices and taxis are too busy doing landslide business. France expected 100,000 American visitors, more had transportation been available, and the net should be some addition to the national economy. Even at 300 francs to one, Americans are leaving considerable dollar equivalent here. Most have been seen to think it is worth it.

After five weeks in a French family home we have joined one of the conducted tours which take a pace not unlike the Olympics—in 37 days we will "see" France, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland and England, six years' summer holidays in the European manner. Actually, it is nice to be in an American group again with news and talk of home, and a tour is a simple, if strenuous, way to get about the country.

This group has five days in Paris, including one on a tour of the city, one day at Versailles and three free days to shop, see the Folies-Bergere and sit at the Cafe de la Paix, spots French almost never visit and tourists seldom miss. Naturally, we felt ourselves the old timers, so much so that we promptly and thoroughly became lost trying to show the view of the city from Sacre-Coeur Church, glistening white crown atop Montmartre on the brow of Paris. It is an impressive sight. Below it is a city of centuries where no matter which way the tourist turns he walks with legends of the past.

From this highest point of ground one may see the winding Seine and its spans of bridges. On one small island Paris began as a village when the Romans came in to Gaul. Notre Dame Cathedral, dating back to 1163, is on that island—whether there actually was a hunch-back who snatched the gypsy girl from death to sanctuary may be literature legend, but some of the guides like to point to a spot where he might have lived.

From 1180 to 1225 Philippe-Auguste extended the boundaries of Paris, and under the Kings Louis were built monuments and palaces which mushroom from streets and gardens in a varying skyline. In the Place de la Concorde, where rises the shaft of Obelisk, Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette lost their heads. Looking across the city, the site of the Bastille is ahead, a little to the left. Beyond the Seine and to the right is the golden dome of the Hotel des Invalides and Napoleon's tomb.

The few comparatively new sights number the Eiffel tower, completed in 1889 as the last word in steel construction, and the Palais de Chaillot, rebuilt in 1937.

At the latter workmen now are transforming interiors and building office space for the United Nations Assembly convening in Paris September 21. In churches craftsmen gradually are replacing prisoners stained glass removed for safety during the war.

Inevitably, if never really to the new, history moves along as eventually must a tourist.

Au revoir, Paris.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—The latest Department of Commerce estimate on new construction presages more good news for the nation's retailers.

New building during August was the highest for any month in history. Total construction was valued at $1,785,000,000, or four per cent above the previous month and 31 per cent over August, 1947.

Of most interest to merchants is the fact that the largest single item in the total was private, non-farm home building. This amounted to $960 million, as against $690 million in August of last year.

All this points to sustained demand for oil burners, furniture and rugs, home appliances and other durables and for such soft goods as curtains and draperies.

The Department of Commerce totals include all construction actually started during the month, whether or not the units were completed. For the first eight months of 1948, new construction amounted to $11,200,000,000, or 35 per cent above the corresponding period in 1947.

THINGS TO COME—Maat extension kit enables home owner to increase the height of his television or FM antenna, thus improving reception. . . . Warming pad has switch that heats to same temperature as pad, so it can be set in the dark. . . . Newest electric blanket adjusts itself automatically to individual's body temperature. . . . A frying pan has been added to a pressure cooker line. . . . Electric iron with a headlight will be marketed soon. . . . Safety ignition switch for autos is designed to prevent fires that follow accident. Attached to oil line, it cuts off when oil pressure drops or when car is tilted to 45 degree angle. . . . It is possible for a housewife to make her own plastic kitchen gadgets with a thermo-plastic kit soon to make an appearance in retail stores. . . . Vent cap for auto batteries is transparent and designed so that the words "add water" show when the level gets low. . . . Coating for wood is said to resist acids and alkalis and make possible the construction of wooden vats or troughs for processing in industries in which such substances are used.

BITS O' BUSINESS—College enrollment is dropping from its postwar record high. Completion of courses by hundreds of GIs and a generally rising cost of tuition are the reasons. . . . Steel is as hard to get as ever. . . . So is lead. . . . Hides are threatening to become an inventory problem. . . . Lumber production is up. . . . The United States is buying part of Great Britain's supply of natural rubber for stockpiling purposes. . . . The television industry announced that more sets were shipped during the second quarter of 1948 than all during 1947. Shipments in the June quarter totaled 183,455 sets, against 104,136 in the first quarter and 182,181 for all of 1947. . . . Total cuttings of men's suits in June dropped 14 per cent below the May level, the Bureau of the Census reports.

Be glad you are not a centipede. The National Safety Council says that occupational accidents alone cause approximately 250,000 finger injuries and 90,000 toe injuries each year—usually the result of handling materials and falling objects. About 9 per cent of such injuries are of a permanent nature.

Be Bright at Night, but Dim Your Lights!

The hunting season is also the open season for firearms accidents, the National Safety Council reports. Deaths in 1946 reached a peak in November when 383 were killed, with the low coming in May when 171 were fatally injured.

Now, that the fishing season's over . . .

Over all the land, future lawyers, doctors, teachers, ministers — and even a governor or a president — have reluctantly put aside many of those things which make summer dear to the heart of every youngster . . . and returned to school and pencils, tablets, and report cards.

Some day these young citizens will realize that the surrender at Yorktown, the mysteries of long division and the principal parts of a sentence, were invaluable short cuts to success. Abraham Lincoln studied by the light of a log fire and became president. That's part of the American Way. Any man, no matter how lowly his beginning, can go as far as his desire and ability will carry him in this land. But today, with our modern educational systems, it's also part of the American Way to smooth the road for our men and women of tomorrow . . . to fit them better, to be better men and women, and better Americans.

The Norfolk and Western, one of the largest taxpayers in the many communities it serves, pays a very large share of tax dollars which contribute materially to the moulding of these youthful minds . . . leaders of the America of tomorrow.

Never drive your car past a school bus that is loading or unloading children. Slow down to the lawful speed in school zones. Observe strictly your local and state traffic laws. Watch out for the school children.

School days mean homework for mothers as well as for their offspring... what with lunch boxes to pack and after-school snacks to fix. And this kind of homework requires a lot of thought, too. If you want to win honors (and help your children do likewise), so let's start concentrating on it right now!

OF SCHOLARS AND DOLLARS
For satisfying the big appetites that small fry develop in school, foods from the A&P are in a class by themselves! It's a huge class, too... including hundreds of good things that promote good health from kindergarten to college. Incidentally, if you've started a college fund for your "young hopeful," you can save plenty of money for it by marketing at your A&P, where prices are low every day.

ON WHAT A PICKLE!
Firm, ripe cantaloupe that ends up in a pickle makes a grand garnish! Boil 3 1/2 lbs. (pared and sectioned) in salted water till tender. Drain. Mix 2 cups sugar, 1 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup water and 1 tsp. A&P's ANN PAGE WHOLE MIXED SPICES FOR PICKLING. Boil about 5 minutes. Add drained cantaloupe and cook gently 5 to 10 minutes. Pack in clean hot jars and seal at once.

MAKE 'EM SMILE WITH BEANS!
If your children think baked beans "are the bomb," they'll beam the sight of sandwiches filled with cold ANN PAGE BEANS. The A&P mixed with chopped ham, crisp dried bacon and a little chopped pickle and salad dressing.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Nicest Compliment I've Had

One of the nicest comments I've received about this column was from an editor in the Middle West. I called on him. And while I don't like to give myself credit, I think it illustrates a point.

"Joe," he said, "it so happens I don't agree with everything you say, but I always like to read your column. Because it gets down to earth and talks about the right to disagree. And it only asks for tolerance towards the other person's point of view."

He went on to explain, by way of illustration, that he never had happened to have a taste for ale or beer. But that when I spoke of the right to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer, well, he was right there with me!

And from where I sit, that's the important thing: not whether you share another person's tastes or point of view—but whether you recognize his right to exercise a free choice in a free land.

Care In Using Corn Picker Urged By County Agent Ozlin

Mechanical corn picking has ended the back-breaking and time-consuming farm job of hand harvesting, but the skill of the mechanical picker often is nullified by careless operation, points out H. W. Ozlin, county agent. There are a large number of corn pickers operating in Princess Anne County now and this year's corn harvest can bring another heavy toll of fatalities of mangled fingers, hands, arms and legs, unless safer practices are adopted.

Here are three rules from the National Safety Council that will check these unnecessary mishaps. Stop the picker. The corn picker has hazardous mechanisms exposed to do the job for which it is designed. There seems to be no practical method of guarding the picker rolls. The only alternative is turning off the power before clearing them. Also, remember to shut off the power before lubricating or adjusting any part of the machine.

Keep guards in place. Manufacturers furnish convenient shields for power take-offs and other exposed hazards that can be guarded. All you have to do is to keep them in place.

Watch out for fire. Practice good housekeeping around your equipment. Keep manifolds and exhausts free from trash accumulations, avoid leaky fuel lines, and never refuel a tractor with the motor running. Metal sediment bulbs on the carburetor and a fire extinguisher provide additional protection.

Let's protect our best crop—our children!

Decline In Cost of Milk Production Seen By Economist

A downward trend in the cost of producing fluid milk in Virginia has been noted by Gordon M. Ward, agricultural economist for the Extension Service.

Dr. Ward reported that the estimated average cost of producing 100 pounds of milk in 13 market areas of the State dropped to $7.54 for the second quarter of this year.

During the first quarter of 1948 it was $7.73 and in the final quarter of 1947 it had reached an apparent peak of $8.12, he said.

With an expected decline in feed prices after a bumper corn crop is harvested this fall, the cost of producing 100 pounds of fluid milk next winter should drop to between $6.00 and $7.00, he believes.

He also said that, with corn a major element in mixed feeds, dairy feeds can be expected to cost from $98 to $45 per ton next winter.

Protein concentrates, he said, will not be relatively as plentiful as corn and are likely to keep feed prices from declining as much as the price of corn during the fall.

Because hay supply is not as large as last year, its price is not likely to decline much, he said.

Pointing out that in feeding value, silage is worth one-fifth the price of corn, he said that in figuring the cost of milk production next winter, silage will be down in proportion with the price of corn.

Capital Airlines Cuts Round Trip

Washington—Capital Airlines has filed a tariff with the Civil Aeronautics Board instituting a 5 per cent discount on round trips, J. H. Carmichael, president of the airline, has announced.

"This represents a major change in Capital's post-war policy with regard to discounts," Mr. Carmichael said. "Capital discontinued this practice at the beginning of the war in cooperation with the government's desire to curtail travel. The return of the 5 per cent discount should act as a stimulus to increase travel."

When the telephone rings

Pop hopes the call is from Luther, saying the hunting trip is on for tomorrow. Mom's expecting a Long Distance call from her mother. Sis will go into a tailspin if it isn't Harry, who hasn't yet asked her for a date Saturday night. Buddy hopes it's Joe, whom he was about to call to practice tying knots.

Whenever and wherever a telephone rings, in the home or office, there's a feeling of expectation. For the telephone serves so many different purposes in our daily lives. It helps make appointments, run errands, take orders, meet emergencies. Nothing gives so much for so little. And through the constant improvement of equipment and expansion of facilities, it's becoming a greater value every day.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia
